Dear Boris and Carrie Johnson,

I/we are writing to urge you NOT to implement any programme to covid-vaccinate Britain's school children. Covid is not dangerous to healthy children, and children actually reduce the risk for adults in contact with them.

The stark reality is that if the government goes ahead with this, children will die from vaccine complications, and a rough computation (based on available data from North America and Israel) suggests that over 100 children could die within weeks of injection, and thousands of children suffer major health consequences such as allergic reactions, heart disease (myocarditis), neurological disorders and strokes.

You need to understand the serious consequences of this decision for children and families, for your historical legacy, and for your own consciences.

Yours sincerely
