

If you truly value freedom and prosperity and you really want to see an end to global poverty, then this hyperlinked e-book of suppressed information is a must-read. But once you've read it, you must then ACT upon it.

SOVEREIGN MONEY

THE SIMPLE SOLUTION THE CRIMINAL GLOBALISTS DON'T WANT YOU TO KNOW!

A highly detailed and evidence-based exposure of an almost completely unknown fiscal mechanism that anyone can understand and which will totally reverse poverty whilst immediately frustrating the planned banking collapse that's designed to bring in their Central Bank Digital Currencies (CBDCs). We can stop the globalists... and they know this! They are really scared that you will suddenly understand money creation and money supply!

by Justin Walker, co-founder of the Hardwick Alliance for Real Ecology \(HARE\)

A very brief introduction – we have only ourselves to blame.

I'm writing this article about the debt-laden global financial system in a state of complete exasperation. I am also writing very much from a British perspective as it was a little known but extremely decisive event in our nation's history that the City of London and our political Establishment have gone out of their way to hide and suppress.

As I click away on my keyboard, it would appear that the long-expected and clearly orchestrated banking collapse, many times worse than that of 2008, may have been triggered by the shadowy and elitist globalists as they pursue their dreams of a 'Great Reset' and a completely fake 'Green New Deal'. Their Orwellian endgame is total digital control over our lives and such a chaotic financial collapse would see the realisation of one of their pet projects...Central Bank Digital Currencies (CBDCs).

With everything that is coming to light, I don't care who I upset. The magnitude of the lies and the subterfuge being inflicted upon us all is on a scale quite unimaginable. But it is not helped by our own collective and quite unforgiveable ignorance, apathy and outright stupidity we have about money creation and money supply. To a very large extent, we have only ourselves to blame for what is happening. We have stopped engaging in any form of critical thinking!

And I care not one jot about what any mainstream economists or politicians will say – almost all of them are completely beneath our contempt! In fact, I believe most of them are just pathetic and craven cowards. They have quite simply sold their souls to a grouping of individuals who, the evidence now clearly shows, are not just psychopaths but are intensely evil...and that is not a word I use lightly!

What you are about to read is the product of just over ten years of detailed research, including talking to 'insiders' who are deeply appalled by what is being done to the human race. In September 2012, I received a very polite, mysterious and anonymous phone-call from someone claiming to be the son of a very elderly and

“not long for this world” gentleman who had served with my late uncle as a Director of the Bank of England. He had been told by his father to give me just one name that when researched properly would reveal “a solution to all of Britain’s economic woes!” It was the classic ‘Richard Hannay’ moment and what I uncovered as a direct result of researching that one name has completely changed my views on almost everything.

But before we begin, a word of warning...I’m definitely not an economist. I’ll be the first one to admit that my eyes just glaze over when I see and hear elitist and mainstream economists spouting all of their statistics as they show graphs and mathematical formulas that are clearly designed to impress/bamboozle us, the ‘uneducated’. I work purely on common sense whilst being a firm advocate of Common or Natural Law. So, with this in mind, let’s begin our journey to expose and shine a light on the suppressed and hidden machinations of our supposed financial overlords whilst at the same time uncovering the one fiscal mechanism that will bring all of their criminality crashing down like a house of cards.

The world we have today...

To give you an immediate inkling of what we’re about to expose, here’s a statement made by the late Henry Ford, the American business magnate who transformed the automobile industry. He once said... “It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning”.

On a daily basis, we, the peoples of the world, all contribute in some way to this privately-controlled banking and monetary system that makes up almost the global economy. However, this global economy has two well-defined extremes. At one extreme, we see extraordinary and concentrated wealth in the hands of a tiny number of people...and at the other, you have hundreds of millions of families going to bed hungry, scared and destitute whilst living in absolute squalor.

According to a report by Oxfam done in January 2020, “the world’s 2,153 billionaires have more wealth than the 4.6 billion people who make up 60 percent of the planet’s population”. To confirm this quite immoral and absurd situation, just two private asset management companies, BlackRock and Vanguard (both using the very latest in advanced Artificial Intelligence), effectively control and own almost all of the major corporations on Earth, especially those that make up the mainstream media, communications industries and ‘big pharma’. According to UNESCO, whilst this tiny few enjoy unbelievable wealth, stature and power, over 260 million children, who should be in schools receiving some sort of education, find themselves instead working in sweat shops or scrounging for discarded items on foul smelling rubbish tips just to be able to help their impoverished and completely dis-empowered parents. How can any of this be morally right?

*The world we allow because of our collective ignorance and stupidity about money creation and money supply!
We should all be utterly ashamed of ourselves! There is absolutely no excuse at all for any of this!*

So, let's cut to the chase, shall we? What are we actually looking at here? How can human-beings, with our natural ability to express kindness, compassion and empathy, allow any of this to happen? What exactly is going on? Why is there never enough money to prevent such appalling hardship from happening in the first place? When you consider what the words 'humane' and 'humanitarian' mean, it is clear that we, who are average, unassuming and normal human-beings, could never allow such a dire and appalling economic system to thrive, let alone exist in the first place. It is a system that by deliberate design causes life-threatening poverty and suffering to take place for many, whilst directly benefitting a tiny number of people to enjoy excessive and obscene levels of wealth.

It doesn't matter how anyone looks at this, the only common sense deduction we can all arrive at is that those responsible for drawing up this global economic system, and who oversee the world's money creation and money supply, are not actually capable of expressing natural human kindness, compassion and empathy. And the only individuals who can subscribe to such unfairness, inequality, injustice and suffering...and to then allow all of this to continue and, indeed, to get worse...must be psychopaths of the very worst kind!

So, how has all of this been allowed to happen? Who are these wretched psychopaths and how were they actually appointed or elected? And, more to the point, why aren't we, the people, having a say in any of this?

The answers here are very simple indeed. When it comes to the organisation and infrastructure of the global economy, whether it be the central banks, the commercial banks, the stock exchanges, the money markets or the high-street banks, everything we see is in private hands answerable only to investors and owners with their obscene wealth. This entire system, that makes crucial decisions that affect all of our lives on a daily basis, exists without any actual input or decision-making by any of us mere mortals. We have had absolutely no say at all with its creation, its design, nor with its day-to-day running. The peoples of the world have quite literally, and quite deliberately, been chained up to a massive debt-creating scheme of financial enslavement without our consent. We have all become corporate slaves to a system that we have had absolutely no say over whatsoever; a system that can make a ruthless and sinister techno-maniac like Elon Musk the world's richest man! Everyone now needs to think very carefully about all of this and what the full implications are!

The global financial system in all its ugliness...

With all of the complex fiscal shenanigans that go on in the financial markets - shenanigans that we 'simpletons' are not supposed to understand - money has been effectively weaponised so that the psychopaths can get the better of us at every turn. They impose increasing and unsustainable levels of debt around so-called 'money' that doesn't actually physically exist (more about that later)! And wait for this...there is apparently a debt time bomb involving the so-called 'derivatives market', that is investment bankers making 'casino bets' in the market place on 'futures' (please don't ask, nobody can give an easy and rational explanation about any of this). Apparently, this complex and unfathomable debt bubble has reached the grand total of...drum roll please...\$2.3 quadrillion, and it is hovering over all of us like some sort of Sword of Damocles, waiting to be unleashed to drown the global markets with chaotic and devastating debt as and when the psychopaths decree. In America, for example, as the stress levels of the banks are increasingly called into question after the recent collapses of three banks, it transpires that the top four US banks, with a combined asset value of $8 trillion, are exposed to the tune of $173 trillion in derivatives. This is all complete and utter madness and we are buying into it through our complete ignorance about money creation and money supply.

And please don't say that our elected (or, in some cases, unelected) representatives in parliaments around the world actually have influence or decision-making powers to change or alter this greed-based corporate system of monetary control that the criminal globalists have taken centuries to perfect. Let's take, for example, the so-called 'mother of parliaments' in Westminster. The British Parliament is completely at the beck and call to the financial power-base in the 'Square Mile' that makes up the 'City of London' (not to be confused with London, the capital city of England and the United Kingdom). Since Roman times, this unelected, unaccountable, private and carefully portrayed 'venerable' institution/corporation has enjoyed many 'ancient privileges' that have been handed down to them over the centuries by English monarchs, including the right, since 1571, to have 'their man' sitting unelected alongside our own elected MPs in the House of Commons.

Known officially as the City Remembrancer, this key position, whilst disguised today to look largely ceremonial, exists to ensure that our elected servants in Parliament never start asking too many questions about the City of London's real relationship with the governance of our country. He is there to safeguard against too much interest being shown in how the 'Square Mile' is able to directly or indirectly influence almost everything that goes on in the Palace of Westminster. This includes making sure that there are never any penetrating questions concerning the truth about actual money creation and money supply. And here we have the essential crux of the problem facing humanity today. When you realise just how much is actually done 'behind the scenes' to keep us all in absolute ignorance about the true origins of money creation and banking, you realise very quickly indeed just how frightened the criminal globalists actually are of being 'found out'. This is quite definitely their one major weakness. In other words, their Achilles heel!

The current 'City Remembrancer' in Parliament is Mr Paul Double. He has been in post since 2004. Don't you just love his ceremonial outfit – where's Alice and the Mad Hatter? However, the symbols used here are truly weird. A small, ill-fitting black hat that looks more like the black cloth which judges once used in order to hand down a death sentence; a threatening and sharp-looking knife (is it by any chance representing the dagger used by the Lord Mayor of London, William Walworth, to kill Wat Tyler, leader of the Peasants Revolt in 1381 and which is today seen on the City of London's official coat-of-arms?); and an upside-down horseshoe which is usually considered to mean bad luck. And all that checkerboard flooring and backcloth? Couldn't possibly be something to do with those highly secretive and well-embedded 'Freemasons' who just happen to have their headquarters in the 'City of London'? Could it? All very strange indeed for an unelected and unaccountable man who enjoys an actual seat in the House of Commons and who is there to stop our elected servants in Parliament from asking too many questions about actual money creation and money supply.

To continue with this narrative of revealing just how ignorant we all are about important and strategic fiscal matters, how many people reading this now have ever heard of a private organisation called the Bank for International Settlements, or BIS as it is often referred to? And how many people know and understand what this bank actually does? The answers would appear to be that around one percent of the world's population has vaguely heard of this bank whilst only a tiny fraction of that one per cent know anything about what it actually does. And this wholesale ignorance is particularly prevalent amongst our own parliamentarians where a considerable number of our elected servants, right across the completely contrived and artificial political spectrum, have absolutely no idea at all about this organisation's existence, let alone what its actual remit is.

So, here are the essential facts that we all need to know and understand about the BIS.

The Bank for International Settlements was created in 1930 by the Bank of England's longest serving governor, Montague Norman, and Hitler's future Minister of Economics, Hjalmar Schacht, in order to supposedly facilitate and improve Germany's war reparations to the victorious Allies after the First World War. That was simply a cover story to disguise its real and future role. Norman and Schacht were both stalwarts of the then Deep State Cabal and knew full well that the BIS was destined to become an integral part of the definitive game-plan to achieve complete global control over supposedly sovereign nations. In this respect, they both recognised that there was an absolute need to have a highly-secretive and private 'central' central bank to coordinate and control the activities of all the other private central banks. Had they both been alive today, they would almost certainly be working alongside Klaus Schwab, Mark Carney, Bill Gates and the rest of the psychotic criminals at the forefront of the 'Great Reset' and the completely fake 'Green New Deal'.

Hjalmar Schacht with his friend and fellow BIS co-founder, Montague Norman Hjalmar Schacht with his boss!

Based in the city of Basel in supposedly 'neutral' Switzerland, the BIS is a privately controlled and publicly unaccountable organisation that oversees well over ninety-five per cent of the world's money supply by directly controlling sixty-three 'member' central banks, including the Bank of England, the Federal Reserve, the People's Bank of China, the Central Bank of the Russian Federation and the European Central Bank. It also influences a host of other smaller central banks which cover almost every country in the world, including extremely unstable and failed states like Afghanistan (Da Afghanistan Bank) and Libya (Central Bank of Libya).

BANK FOR INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENTS

*The Bank that rules the world but hardly anyone has heard of it.
The ugly 'Tower of Basel' – slavery and evil personified! (photo courtesy of the BIS)*

Unbelievably, this private institution with its enormous global reach has actually given itself diplomatic immunity in order to protect its blatant criminality from any form of serious investigation and public prosecution. The BIS also enjoys, for some strange reason, complete exemption from paying any Swiss taxes. Finally, and this should come as no surprise to anyone, all of their regular top-level meetings involving Governors from the most important central banks are completely private and held in total secrecy with the minutes of those meetings, if kept at all, being kept very carefully under wraps. Everything is conducted on a solid 'need to know' basis whilst at the same time attempting to make sure that the bank comes across, to those very few people indeed who are aware of its existence and who may have come across the official website, as being a 'force for good' on the world stage. As an institution, the BIS likes to keep itself well below the radar and well away from the prying eyes of the general public.

But to fully understand the real reason behind the existence of the BIS, here are three extracts written back in 1966 by Professor Carroll Quigley, a fearless historian who gained the trust of the central bankers and was allowed to attend some of their most secretive meetings. When he published his book 'Tragedy and Hope – A History of the World in our Time', he was immediately ostracised by these central bankers for 'betraying' them and they did their utmost to prevent this book from ever being published. Fortunately, they failed. These three extracts should now be read extremely carefully for the damning evidence they contain. Professor Carroll wrote:

"During the past two centuries when the peoples of the world were gradually winning their political freedom from the dynastic monarchies, the major banking families of Europe and America were actually reversing the trend by setting up new dynasties of political control through the formation of international financial combines. These banking dynasties had learned that all governments must have sources of revenue from which to borrow in times of emergency. They had also learned that by providing such funds from their own private resources, they could make both kings and democratic leaders tremendously subservient to their will."

Later on, he wrote:

"The powers of financial capitalism had another far-reaching aim, nothing less than to create a world system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole. This system was to be controlled in a feudalist fashion by the central banks of the world acting in concert, by secret agreements, arrived at in frequent private meetings and conferences. The apex of the system was the Bank for International Settlements in Basle, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the world's central banks which were themselves private corporations. The growth of financial capitalism made possible a centralization of world economic control and use of this power for the direct benefit of financiers and the indirect injury of all other economic groups."

He then went on to say...

"It must not be felt that these heads of the world's chief central banks were themselves substantive powers in world finance. They were not. Rather, they were the technicians and agents of the dominant investment bankers of their own countries, who had raised them up and were perfectly capable of throwing them down. The substantive financial powers of the world were in the hands of these investment bankers (also called 'international' or 'merchants' bankers) who renamed largely behind the scenes in their own unincorporated banks. These formed a system of international cooperation and national dominance which was more private, more powerful, and more secret than that of their agents in the central banks..."

Professor Carroll Quigley – a fearless historian who well and truly spilled the beans!

These ‘investment bankers’ he refers to are, of course, the psychopaths who dominate and control today’s Deep State. They include members of dynastic banking families with such luminary names as Rothschild, Morgan, Oppenheim, Lehman, Warburg and Rockefeller. But other participants that make up this elitist stranglehold on the human race include names of extremely powerful business people who have been ‘allowed’, or in some cases ‘selected’, to ‘cash in’ on this carefully devised and globalised system of corporate and financial criminality, including such high-profile names as Bill Gates, Jeff Bezos, Elon Musk and Mark Zuckerberg.

Currently, as the world is being unlawfully kraaled towards this planned global technocracy, the BIS today has two main responsibilities to fulfil. The first of these is to oversee the funding required to bring about the completely fake Green New Deal that’s designed to deliberately paralyse and constrain so much of the global economy over the coming years. To undertake this, the BIS has created an initiative that they’ve called the Green Swan with the strapline ‘Central banking and financial stability in the age of climate change’. Apart from this completely ridiculous strapline (climate change has been going on naturally for millions of years!), this has been designed by the criminal globalists to plunge the world into even more unsustainable debt whilst attempting the madness of de-carbonising the entire global economy. It is all about the deliberate triggering of global economic chaos that will persuade the peoples of the world to willingly accept the Great Reset, the Central Bank Digital Currencies and the joys of living in a carefully controlled and funded corporate and digital technocracy.

A ‘green’ gimmick to assure us all that the private central bankers really do want to save the planet!

The Bank for International Settlement’s second and even more important responsibility is to oversee and force through the hurried introduction of the previously mentioned Central Bank Digital Currencies (CBDC) whilst at the same time ensuring that physical cash is being actively discouraged and rapidly phased out. This sudden mass conversion to electronic money and digital banking has been long planned by the criminal globalists and it explains why the private high street banks are now rapidly shutting down a sizeable proportion of their local branches. And it also explains why people are being persuaded/bullied into accepting the ‘advantages’ and ‘convenience’ (for whom?) of on-line banking.

The introduction of this Central Bank Digital Currency has one major goal – to be able to have complete control over every retail and business transaction in the world! This is being done by going from a ‘split circuit monetary system’ to the amalgamation of having just one united electronic and digital monetary system...an AI system which comes under the direct control of the BIS – and just to remind the everyone again, this a highly secretive, private, unelected and unaccountable institution which has the criminal intent of overseeing global totalitarianism! And only a mere fraction of one per cent of the entire world’s population knows anything at all about it! It really is time for us all to wake up and to stop being so ignorant about things!

If you want confirmation of this criminal intent to remove physical cash in order to achieve global authority and absolute control over all fiscal transactions in the future, here is a quote made by Agustin Carstens, the current General Manager of the Bank for International Settlements and close associate with the World Economic Forum:

“There is a huge difference [between CBDC and cash]. For example, with cash we don’t know who’s using a 100-dollar bill today. We don’t know who’s using a 1,000-peso bill today. A key difference with the CBDC is the central bank will have absolute control under rules and regulations that will determine the use of that expression of central bank liability, and we will have the technology to enforce that.”

Agustin Carstens – the current senior public face of the criminal BIS...a man who has clearly enjoyed the exceptional dining that is reputed to take place at their regular but highly secretive meetings in Basel.

To see more about what’s coming, please watch this excellent video put out by Ice Age Farmer which completely encapsulates the entire CBDC push and how the central banks are using outright bribery, behavioural modification and, not surprisingly, the huge gathering and collection of personal data. This video by John Titus of BestEvidence is also very helpful in explaining how this threat to humanity is being unrolled out upon a very largely unsuspecting world.

And here we have just one example of how scurrilous and deceptive this global financial system actually is. A gentleman by the name of Ben Dyson works for the BIS at their Innovation Hub Centre in Singapore. He is employed there to help oversee the initial trialling of these Central Bank Digital Currencies under the name of Project Dunbar. This is the same Ben Dyson who established a supposedly grassroots pressure group in 2010 called Positive Money which wanted to see money being used in a much better and more imaginative way to create a fairer and less debt-based society.

Today, Positive Money, having set up Positive Money Europe and then the International Movement for Monetary Reform, is now deliberately steering people inexorably towards a completely cashless world where there is only a centralised system of money that’s based entirely around the privately controlled Central Bank Digital Currencies. The conclusion is simple. Positive Money is just a complete and utter scam that was deliberately created to deceive those good people who knew the world needed some sort of urgent money reform!

This is yet another perfect example of how the hidden hand of the criminal globalists carefully creates and funds 'controlled opposition' that leads unsuspecting, ill-informed and trusting people towards accepting new ideas and technologies that will inevitably lead to their corporate entrapment and enslavement. And, of course, whilst all of this is happening, the road towards this well-planned global technocracy becomes clearer by the day...but only to those who have the good sense to question everything that they see going on around them. It's sad to say but it is our collective and unforgiveable ignorance that is still the best protection the Deep State Cabal has!

Indeed, as humanity wades through this sea, or more accurately, ocean of ignorance, here is the absolute proof of the madness that has taken over the entire world – but it is a madness that is controlled and which is on a mission! If we randomly ask people in the street who 'Aladdin' is, the response would be the traditional children's story about a young chap who finds a battered old lamp with a genie imprisoned inside. Well, in today's increasingly globalised world, it now stands for Asset Liability And Debt And Derivative Investment Network.

This is actually an Artificial Intelligence 'super computer', created and overseen by globalist Larry Fink and his then newly-created BlackRock Inc. It is designed to Hoover up the actual management of investments to the point that in just twenty-five years this 'AI robot' can identify risk and opportunity in the market place so successfully that it is now directly or indirectly responsible for more than four times the value of all the money in the world. Check out this mind-blowing and explanative video which shows how the business world is now totally immersed, entrapped and dependent upon the criminal machinations of the Deep State Cabal through their power-crazed, billionaire agents like Larry Fink. And when it comes to who holds the 'key' that ultimately controls 'Aladdin', you have to look no further than our friends at the Bank for International Settlements – the bank that almost no one has ever heard of!

This headlong-rush towards making radical and centralised changes to the usage of money and everyday banking is not only an integral part of this grand plan to have total technological control over every aspect of our lives and our spending patterns, but it is also about having the ability to punish! How do you buy essential foodstuffs for your family if those nice controlling psychopaths suddenly decide that you have been uncooperative and must therefore be punished? By simply remotely and instantaneously withdrawing your ability to access any form of digitalised money you will find yourself completely cut off from the market place. And we have all witnessed those so-called 'technical glitches' that the private high street banks have from time to time to see just how quickly your access to money can suddenly disappear. We all need to wake up fast to this hidden agenda. A wholly cashless society enables a totalitarian regime to have complete and remote control over every aspect of our daily lives. We have all been warned! But will we now do anything about it?

So, before we move on, the obvious questions are these...how has this secretive and murky world of private central banking been able to effectively take over the global economy and to completely shape the destinies of supposedly powerful sovereign nations? What is the magic formula that allows a tiny number of extremely rich and powerful men and women to wield such enormous power over the human race? The answers are incredibly simple! Very simple indeed!

Here is a brief statement in the Bank of England's Quarterly Review for the Spring of 2014:

"In the modern economy, most money takes the form of bank deposits. But how those bank deposits are created is often misunderstood: the principal way is through commercial banks making loans. Whenever a bank makes a loan, it simultaneously creates a matching deposit in the borrower's bank account, thereby creating new money."

With this startling admission by Britain's central bank that is secretly controlled by the BIS, now read this next paragraph very carefully indeed and please take it all in.

What, the Bank of England (BoE) has confirmed here, in this almost throwaway comment, is that when lending takes place of interest-bearing and debt-laden 'money' to very largely unsuspecting clients...whether they be governments, companies or individuals...the entire private banking and financial system does nothing more than conduct sleight of hand ledger exercises. For instance, when someone thinks they are borrowing from a bank, nothing is actually borrowed and nothing is actually loaned. Instead, a borrower's signature, whether electronic or in wet ink, on a so-called 'loan agreement' creates new money in the form of a 'promissory note' which, in turn, is 'settled in full' on the open market with the bank acting as no more than an agent to facilitate this utterly dishonest and deceptive process. Thus, the so-called 'borrower' is, in fact, the creator of the credit and the bank has given absolutely nothing tangible towards this transaction. Yet the poor 'borrower' comes away believing that he or she must re-pay not only the credit that has been created but also the interest on it as well. Actually, when we say 're-pay', what we really mean is 'pay again' as the bank (as admitted in the above quote) had already received full settlement simultaneously with the issuance of the so-called 'loan'. In banking parlance, this complete scam is known as 'bait-and-switch'.

In all such banking and financial transactions, the 'money' is simply conjured up from nowhere and is definitely not based on anything tangible such as precious metals or anything else of actual worth. And let's not forget that William Paterson, who made his fortune largely from slavery and buccaneering in the West Indies before he helped to co-found the privately-run Bank of England back in 1694, was on record as saying that "the Bank [of England] hath benefit of interest on all moneys which it creates out of nothing." Even in the late seventeenth century, we had private, unelected and unaccountable psychopaths steering a power-grabbing and criminal agenda that uses unlawful debt and the imposition of increasingly tyrannical control over unsuspecting and law-abiding people.

*Sir William Paterson – a fortune out of slavery and buccaneering, co-founder of the Bank of England.
“the Bank hath benefit of interest on all moneys which it creates out of nothing.”*

Today, the entire privately run central banking system, along with the high-street and commercial banks and other financial institutions, all practice this modern-day alchemy that involves the blatant and excessive use of usury whereby massive profits are made on the interest payments alone from something that never actually existed in the first place. Under the Common or Natural Law - not to mention good old fashioned common sense - this has to be seen as a clear case of setting out to commit deliberate fraud. If ordinary people like us had a go at doing this and started to create interest-bearing and debt-laden money that was entirely based on absolutely nothing at all except fresh air, then we wouldn't be at all surprised if we were to receive lengthy jail sentences.

But for these private, unelected and unaccountable power-crazed psychopaths - who, today, are completely protected by a shield of disreputable and bought politicians, judges, academics and journalists, not to mention being ably assisted by our own and quite appalling ignorance about money creation and money supply - have (for the time being at any rate) got away with it. They have succeeded in positioning and placing a completely unlawful 'debt yoke' of absolute financial control over all of humanity. They have, by criminal means, seized control over the entire global economy.

A horribly accurate meme!

The simple truth is this. The complexities of banking are beyond most people...and that is exactly how the bankers like it. They do not like being under the microscope of popular examination and opinion. They like to keep their heads well below the parapets and to be left to get on with their criminal machinations largely undisturbed.

And to confirm these machinations, let's briefly look at where a former governor of the Bank of England has gone and what he's now up to. Since being governor (2013-2020), Mark Carney has been promoted to take on a new global role as the United Nations Special Envoy on Climate Action and Finance – he has gone from one criminal institution to yet another. Today, he is now the Deep State Cabal's chief enforcer for making sure that the business world gets the message about the Green New Deal. Any business or corporation, however small, which is not pressing ahead in a resolute way into becoming a more carbon-free enterprise, will have him to deal with. In his own words, he says:

Climate change is an existential threat. We all recognize that, and there's increasing urgency around it. But the converse is, if you are making investments, coming up with new technologies, changing the way you do business, all in service of reducing and eliminating that threat, you are creating value. And what we have seen increasingly, spurred initially by the Sustainable Development Goals, accelerated by Paris, and then by social movements and governments, is societies putting tremendous value on achieving net zero. Companies, and those who invest in them and lend to them, and who are part of the solution, will be rewarded. Those who are lagging behind and are still part of the problem will be punished [our emphasis].

Mark Carney: The Green New Deal Enforcer! You will have him to deal with if you attempt to resist this climate change madness! He is the 'Green Swan' personified! Nice chap...not!

And let's look at the current governor of the Bank of England. Step forward Andrew Bailey if you please, the Deep State Cabal's perfect 'useful idiot' to oversee Britain's current cost of living crisis as well as the coming global financial collapse. His record so far has not exactly been dazzling. As the chief executive of the Financial Conduct Authority, he received a severe reprimand around the collapse of London Capital and Finance \(LCF\) which left almost 12,000 people losing a very large proportion of their investments, many of them pensioners. Only very recently he was criticised by union leaders for telling workers not to seek inflationary pay rises as the cost of living for ordinary people increases week by week to cripple their household budgets – this coming from a man who took home last year £575,538 in pay and benefits to keep this criminal system of usury afloat.

Being a system-serving central banker through and through, he is viewed by those who wish to keep this appalling central banking system away from prying eyes as a safe pair of hands. He is just the right man to help bring in a Central Bank Digital Currency for the UK. You can almost see him, at those regular and secret BIS meetings in Basel, acting like one of those nodding dogs you see in the back of cars (electric ones of course!), happily taking his orders from those dynastic banking families who drive the hidden and financial agenda for total control over the human race.

Andrew Bailey – the BIS 'nodding dog' for bringing in CBDCs and real tyranny into the UK! (photo courtesy of the BoE)

Interestingly, when it comes to the actual decision-making process within this criminal organisation that is the Bank of England, there is a somewhat curious and surprising addition. How many people know that Frances O'Grady, the former general-secretary of the Trade Union Congress (TUC) and the champion of the workers and their historically hard-won rights, is actually a Non-Executive Director of the Bank of England until the 31st May of this year?

As she sits on the Court of Directors, what does she actually know about the criminality that goes on within this global central banking system? For instance, is she properly briefed when Andrew Bailey returns from one of those regular and secretive meetings at the Bank for International Settlements? Or is that sort of briefing just reserved for the Executive Directors...those who can be entirely trusted to follow the criminal globalists' real agenda? In other words, is she a carefully positioned and integral part to this unfolding global conspiracy with its Great Reset and Green New Deal? Or is she just yet another controlled, unquestioning and sadly very ignorant 'useful idiot' within the system that's there to be used as and when by these unelected and unaccountable globalists? Common sense tells us that she really has to be either one or the other. Maybe trade unionists should now start writing to her to find out what she actually knows and whether or not she is actually briefed about the secretive meetings that go on at the BIS.

Frances O'Grady, the former general-secretary of the TUC, can we have some transparency please about your high-level involvement with the Bank of England? You have a lot of questions that you must now answer. Are you happy that the world's money creation and money supply is almost entirely in the hands of private, unelected and unaccountable individuals? Do you know what is actually being discussed at the top-level secret meetings of the Bank for International Settlements or have you been deliberately left out of the loop as you are only a Non-Executive and not an Executive Director? Do you support the 'Build-Back-Better' Great Reset and its goal to introduce a global Technocracy? Are you happy to see physical cash completely replaced by Central Bank Digital Currencies? Are you familiar with what's happening in China with the Social Credit System that is being rolled out there? Are you happy that private banks commit fraud when they create money completely 'out of nothing' as debt? These are all questions that you MUST now answer. (photo courtesy of the BoE)

As we start to round off this overall description of the global financial system and how we, the ordinary people, have absolutely no say whatsoever when it comes to the important and strategic matters in life, let's consider briefly just one country that has had a roller coaster ride and which has had its hopes and aspirations for a bright and just future repeatedly dashed.

When the Republic of South Africa finally rid itself of apartheid back in 1994, the world rejoiced, especially when Nelson Mandela, a man who had clearly suffered from this evil system of race segregation, became president. What he stood for was simple: the entire country must now begin a healing process where forgiveness was crucial and central. With good men like the late Archbishop Desmond Tutu supporting this process, South Africa seemed set fair on a course for a peaceful and prosperous future for everyone living in that country...a country which up until then was where a white minority enjoyed privileged lifestyles and security whilst the rest strived for just the essentials of life, including basic sanitation, a house that was properly built, education, a meaningful job and freedom from violent crime.

Sadly, almost thirty years on, that dream of peace and prosperity for everyone has definitely not been realised. Whilst it is certainly true that a much larger number of non-whites are now enjoying considerably improved lifestyles and that political and military appointments are, at last, reflecting the race profile of the nation, the standard of living has not really been improved that much for the overwhelming majority of the people. In fact, robbery and violence are still a considerable problem for many who can't afford the high levels of security needed to protect their properties. Why, after almost three decades, has there not been a real and substantial change in the living conditions for the indigenous people of South Africa? Why, after all that time, is there still so much impoverishment in the townships?

After nearly thirty years of freedom from apartheid, this is the stark reality for many black South Africans today...and you don't have to look far to see who is ultimately responsible for this!

The answer, sadly, is very obvious. As with the Democratic Republic of the Congo, South Africa is blessed with enormous natural wealth. It has an abundance in gold, diamonds, iron ore, copper, platinum, silver, manganese, titanium, chromium and uranium. However, the mining businesses involved are very largely owned and controlled by foreign investors. Not unsurprisingly, these businesses, in order to realise the vast profits expected of them, only pay the bulk of their workers the bare minimum that's needed to secure their sweat and labour, with most of that work being undertaken in very dangerous and unpleasant conditions. And to seal this unfairness and exploitation, the private, criminal and vampire-like central banking system is there, ratcheting up the unlawful national debt and sucking the very life blood out of the South African economy.

Sadly, as with the rest of the world, corruption and fraud are endemic at the very heart of government. It doesn't matter whether your president is black, white or any other colour, if the unelected criminal globalists control your nation's money creation and money supply then they are in complete control of who benefits from your country's natural wealth...and if that means completely exploiting the local labour force to the point of near slavery, so be it! Maximum profits must always come before simple human decency and needs!

As with all the nations on Earth involved with the private central bankers, South Africa has its own National Debt which currently stands at just over \$201 billion. This results in South Africans having to pay back in interest around $11.9 billion a year. The private central bank in South Africa that oversees this debt noose is the South African Reserve Bank \(SARB\). It is classed as one of only three African central banks that are classed as full members of the Bank for International Settlements, the other two being the Bank of Algeria and the Central Bank of Morocco.

In his excellent book A History of Central Banking – and the Enslavement of Mankind, the late Stephen Mitford Goodson, who was himself a Non-Executive Director of the South African Reserve Bank from 2003 until 2012 and who witnessed at first hand the private central banking system from the inside, wrote:

For any nation/state/society/community to have full sovereignty and independence in its affairs, absolute control over the means it employs to exchange goods and services must reside with the organs which represent the people, and must not be delegated to private individuals.

Throughout recorded history periods of state control of the money supply have been synonymous with eras of prosperity, peace, cultural enrichment, full employment and zero inflation. However, when private bankers usurp control of the money creation process, the inevitable results are recurring cycles of prosperity and poverty, unemployment, embedded inflation and an enormous and ever increasing transfer of wealth and political power to this tiny clique who control this exploitative monetary system. Whenever these private and central bankers have been opposed in the past by nations seeking restoration of an honest money system, these parasitic bankers have invariably invoked a "patriotic" war in order to defeat the much maligned "enemy". This has been a feature of almost all wars during the past 300 plus years.

There it is in a nutshell – private central banking brilliantly summed up in two paragraphs. Concerning those 'patriotic wars', we already know that the completely bogus and false-flag attacks of 9/11 gave the criminal globalists the much-needed opportunity to 'correct' some 'rogue' states from their 'wayward' banking practices...Goodson wrote later in his book:

Henceforth a pattern would emerge where unnecessary wars would be embarked upon which simultaneously increased the national debt and the profits of the usurers. Significantly, most of these wars were started against countries that had implemented interest-free state banking systems, as was the case in the North American colonies and France under Napoleon. This pattern of attacking and enforcing the bankers' system of usury has been deployed widely in the modern era and includes the defeats of Imperial Russia in World War One, Germany, Italy and Japan in World War Two and most recently Libya in 2011. These were all countries which had state banking systems, which distributed the wealth of their respective nations on an equitable basis and provided their populations with a standard of living far superior to that of their rivals and contemporaries.

When we look at that list of nations which had state banking systems, this is not now some crass attempt to justify the quite appalling atrocities that Nazi Germany and Imperial Japan committed during the Second World War. The likes of Hitler and Tojo stand rightly condemned for everything they did...but it does perhaps suggest that the Allies were not entirely squeaky clean themselves in what was going on behind the scenes. As in all conflagrations, the only real victims were the innocent, misinformed and deliberately deceived civilians who found themselves caught up in the irrational hatred and the appalling destruction, carnage and maiming which would change their lives forever. Ordinary people just want to be left alone to get on with their ordinary lives. They just want happiness, prosperity and good health for themselves and their loved ones. They want to live in freedom in safe, vibrant and prosperous communities. And they want to breath clean air, drink pure water and eat nourishing food whilst enjoying a natural world that is thriving, biodiverse and unpolluted. What they don't want is war, destruction...and completely fraudulent and unsustainable debt!

The time is now right for 'Real History' to come to the fore. This is not the history that is taught in schools and universities, but the history that our hidden controllers would rather was airbrushed completely out of existence. People need to know and understand how the hidden and secretive hands of the criminal globalists have carefully manoeuvred, positioned and cajoled ambitious and grasping politicians to go to war whenever it suits their concealed grand plans for the strategic manoeuvring of supposedly sovereign nations. Take away this evil mind-set's 'right' to control the world's money and wars have a very good chance of being assigned to the dustbin of history forever. Why? Because the psychopaths will lose their control and become completely powerless! And in this vacuum of real opportunity, wise people with humility and vision will take the place of paid-for, ego-driven and self-serving career politicians. This can all be achieved, as you are about to read, by embracing just one very simple and completely proven financial mechanism that the criminal globalists have done their level best to remove completely from the public's consciousness.

And finally, in this section, it is our recommendation that you read this excellent book by Gerry Docherty and Jim Macgregor entitled Hidden History – The Secret Origins of the First World War. This video was made to promote their work and their findings and is well worth watching. The evidence is all there that we were then...and are today...ultimately controlled by unelected, unaccountable and extremely secretive psychopaths who seek only war, chaos and mayhem upon the human race if it means that they can ultimately control every aspect of human governance. But all is far from lost! We now come to that completely proven and historical solution that will completely put an end to all of this madness and this criminality!

I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around [the banks] will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people, to whom it properly belongs.

"Gentlemen, I have had men watching you for a long time and I am convinced that you have used the funds of the bank to speculate in the breadstuffs of the country. When you won, you divided the profits amongst you, and when you lost, you charged it to the bank. You tell me that if I take the deposits from the bank and annul its charter, I shall ruin ten thousand families. That may be true, gentlemen, but that is your sin! Should I let you go on, you will ruin fifty thousand families, and that would be my sin! You are a den of vipers and thieves."

Major General Smedley D Butler, USMC
Born: West Chester, Pa., July 30, 1881, died 1940
Two Congressional Medals of Honor, 1914, 1917
Distinguished Service Medal, 1919
Retired October 1, 1931

THE 'BUSINESS PLOT' of 1933:

In July, 1934 General Butler was approached by 2 wealthy industrialists who offered him $30 million dollars and the support of 500,000 troops and the mainstream media to lead a coup against President Roosevelt and remove him from office. Butler pretended to go along with it, eventually meeting with the main conspirators behind the plot. Their intention was to install a fascist regime like the ones in Nazi Germany and Italy in hopes of profiting from the great depression. After gathering the information, Butler then appeared to testify before a committee of House Representatives. The representatives believed Butler but refused to pursue the people responsible. In it's final report, the McCormack-Dickstein Committee stated, "In the last few weeks of the committee's official life it received evidence showing that certain persons had made an attempt to establish a fascist organization in this country - and might have been placed in execution when and if the financial backers deemed it expedient." The media turned on Butler, calling his allegations a hoax. President Roosevelt eventually cut a deal with the plotters and nothing more came of it. However, General Butler named the names. when he appeared before Congress to tell the story. Some of the names and companies you might recognize:

U.S. Steel, Standard Oil, General Motors, Chase Nat'l Bank, Goodyear Tires, Prescott Bush, The Dupont family, William R. Hearst, Howard Heinz, E.F. Hutton, Andrew W. Mellon, George M. Moffett, J.P. Morgan, Grayson M.P. Murphy, the Pitcairn Family, J. Howard Pew, Hal Roach, Rockefeller Associates, Felix Warburg

The highly decorated and retired Major General Smedley Butler, author of 'War is a Racket', was approached by the then Deep State Cabal of the 1930s to lead a coup against a democratically elected President. This now very little known episode in history illustrates perfectly how good people today in the military and the police, whether retired or not, should behave. The Law of the Land must prevail at all times. The minions of the Deep State Cabal must be arrested, charged and put before a Jury in a Common Law Court to see justice done.

A Solution that's just so simple and effective...and it's entirely proven!

So, we now come to that simple and effective solution that will completely overturn and put to an end the shenanigans of the criminal globalists once and for all...a solution that severs their collective jugular without any hesitation whatsoever!

It comes in the form of a virtually unknown but extremely effective fiscal rescue mission by the British government that took place over one hundred years ago when the City of London completely wrong-footed themselves and left themselves wide open to economic chaos and complete financial collapse. Ask today if anyone has ever heard of the 'Bradbury Pound' and you will almost certainly just get back a polite shrug of the shoulders. And that's not surprising really as the City of London, along with corrupted and bought elements within Britain's political class, judiciary, academia and mainstream media, have all spent one hundred years playing down and, in some cases, deliberately airbrushing this historical episode completely out of British history and peoples' memories. And, it has to be said, they have done it very well!

However, unfortunately for the Cabal, the embers of this incredibly simple and completely lawful fiscal arrangement or mechanism that gave us this so-called 'Bradbury Pound' were kept glowing by a tiny band of ardent banking and money reformers, including the tireless and inspiring Ellen Brown, a strong advocate of public banking and for the restoration of Abraham Lincoln's 'Greenback Dollar', the US equivalent to the British 'Bradbury Pound'. And two other reformers should be named here for posterity as they have both sadly passed away recently just as the world is starting to wake up to the criminality of the private central banking system.

We all owe a considerable debt of gratitude to Ken Palmerton and David Pidcock for helping to keep the truth alive about money creation and money supply and, in particular, about this common-sense monetary mechanism that has come to be known by money reformers as 'Sovereign Money' or 'Sovereign National Credit' and which was triggered so effectively in August 1914. Their persistence and stubborn refusal to be kowtowed and rubbished by the political and economic 'Establishment', has meant that the detailed memory of what happened at the outbreak of World War One is as fresh now as it was then, when the 'Bradbury Pound' came to the immediate rescue and saved Britain from a run on the banks just as the country was mobilising for total war.

This one suppressed episode from the past, if repeated again today by the British people, would ensure that those glowing embers would flare up once more, only this time into a full-scale conflagration. A blaze of common sense and freedom that would spread out globally as it immediately triggers a domino-like effect in countries all around the world as they, too, set in motion this same fiscal mechanism that would immediately annul all of their crippling and completely unlawful debts. This sudden turnaround for genuine sovereignty, by putting money creation and money supply firmly back into the hands of the people, would bring to an abrupt end the corrupted and privately controlled financial powerhouses that are the City of London, the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the World Bank and, of course, our old but hidden adversary, the Bank for International Settlements along with its entire network of criminal and debt-creating central banks.

Amazingly, this remarkably simple fiscal device would initiate the immediate and complete ruination of the entire network that makes up the hidden empire of the criminal globalists. The totalitarian threats coming from the Great Reset and the Green New Deal would be no more. The United Nations would be jolted back into being a genuine forum for the collective wisdom of the human race not to mention the genuine protection of our living Earth. Put quite simply, the virtually unknown, humble and insignificant-sounding 'Bradbury Pound' is the key needed to unlock the prison gates and so liberate us from tyranny whilst at the same time restoring our collective freedoms, humanity, prosperity and even our ultimate spiritual destiny! Not bad for a scrap of paper issued by HM Treasury in August of 1914!

But does all of this sound implausible or even downright ridiculous? To those who are woefully ignorant about money creation and money supply and who proudly tell the world that they are system-serving economists, then the answer has to be a clear 'Yes'! But to those people who understand the weaknesses and criminality of the current system and who realise what the 'Bradbury Pound' truly means, then the answer is a resounding 'No'!

So, for the benefit of all people who desire REAL freedom, here is the deliberately suppressed and almost entirely airbrushed story of the 1914 'Bradbury Pound' that has never been allowed to see the true light of day or to be given its rightful and proper place in the history of the British nation...

At the outbreak of World War One, Britain was on the 'gold standard'. For the privately owned and run Bank of England, this meant that the actual total value of all those 'sleights of hand ledger exercises' carried out by the Bank to create the physical paper money and cheques needed on the high street, had to be wholly underpinned and covered by the market value of the physical gold that the Bank of England actually held in its private vaults. This was clearly going to be quite impossible. By contrast, the country's specie or coinage - that is the gold, silver and copper coins for use on the high streets at that time, including the £1 gold sovereign and the ten-shilling gold half-sovereign - was created for the British government and His Majesty's Treasury courtesy of the constant and highly principled Royal Mint. To clarify the situation further, the Bank of England's paper notes all bore the distinct and now infamous 'debt' strapline "Promise to pay the Bearer on Demand the Sum of Pounds" and came primarily in £5, £10 and £20 denominations. It is also interesting to note that a pound sterling in 1914 was equivalent to £147 in today's money thanks to current (and completely contrived) inflation!

This creation by the Bank of England of disproportionate sums of clearly unbacked and unsupported 'fresh air' paper money has a 'polite' term in the banking world. It is called 'Fractional Reserve Lending' though, of course, in common sense terms, it is the fraudulent creation of money completely 'out of nothing' to use again William Paterson's own infamous words. It doesn't matter how much the system-serving economists attempt to defend this private money creation for the nation, it can only be classed as blatant and outright fraud!

So, at the beginning of August 1914, the Bank of England did not have the required physical gold in its private vaults to underpin its feckless and completely fraudulent banking transactions that were creating this debt-based and interest-bearing 'fresh air money'. With the uncertainty of war now upon them, the ordinary people understandably wanted to 'hoard' reliable and benchmarked gold rather than paper 'fiat' money whose dubious and transient value was in the fraudulent hands of these private bankers and their equally untrustworthy politicians. There was now a huge and looming danger of a complete financial collapse as the £1 gold sovereigns and ten-shilling gold half-sovereigns disappeared off the streets and people started to queue outside the Bank of England and the high-street banks to swap their questionable and very largely unbacked BoE paper notes for ostensibly solid and reliable gold. A devastating run on the banks now appeared inevitable.

Queueing outside the Bank of England in August 1914 to exchange their IOU paper £5 notes for £1 gold sovereigns...the reputation of private bankers was not much better than it is today. And how many of these young men shown in this photograph died fighting for their country in a war ultimately engineered by the private central bankers?

So, the picture is now set for the emergency entrance of the 'Bradbury Pound'. The reliable source for all of this is a book written by the Rt. Hon. Thomas Johnston MP. Hardly a household name today, Johnston appears to have been a truly honourable MP who really loathed fraud and corruption with a passion and whose memorable legacy was the establishment of large hydro-electricity schemes right across the Highlands of Scotland. During the Second World War, he was also responsible for overseeing all Scottish affairs in Churchill's War Cabinet. When we read about his political career and what he strove to achieve, we are compelled to ask why MPs today in the House of Commons appear incapable of rising up to his standards for truth and service to the nation? His loathing of financial skulduggery was such that he wrote The Financiers and the Nation which was published in 1934. In Chapter 6, entitled Usury on the Great War, Mr Johnston described the shenanigans of the private bankers and the politicians at the outbreak of World War One and how the popularly-called 'Bradbury Pound' was created by HM Treasury to save the day. He wrote (with my added emphasis at the end of the quote):

"When the whistle blew for the start of the Great War in August 1914 the Bank of England possessed only nine million pounds' sterling of a gold reserve, and, as the Bank of England was the Bankers' Bank, this sum constituted the effective reserve of all the other Banking Institutions in Great Britain.

The bank managers at the outbreak of War were seriously afraid that the depositing public, in a panic, would demand the return of their money. And, inasmuch as the deposits and savings left in the hands of the bankers by the depositing public had very largely been sunk by the bankers in enterprises which, at the best, could not repay the borrowed capital quickly, and which in several and large-scale instances were likely to be submerged altogether in the stress of war and in the collapse of great areas of international trade, it followed that if there were a widespread panicky run upon the banks, the banks would be unable to pay and the whole credit system would collapse, to the ruin of millions of people.

*Private enterprise banking thus being on the verge of collapse, the Government (Mr. Lloyd George at the time was Chancellor of the Exchequer) hurriedly declared a moratorium, i.e. it authorized the banks not to pay out (which in any event the banks could not do), and it extended the August Bank Holiday for another three days. During these three or four days when the banks and stock exchanges were closed, the bankers held anxious negotiation with the Chancellor of the Exchequer. And one of them has placed upon record the fact that 'he (Mr. George) did everything that we asked him to do.' When the banks reopened, the public discovered that, instead of getting their money back in gold, they were paid in a new legal tender of Treasury notes (the £1 notes in black and the 10s. notes in red colours). This new currency had been issued by the State, was backed by the credit of the State, and was issued to the banks to prevent the banks from utter collapse. The public cheerfully accepted the new notes; and nobody talked about inflation.

Thomas Johnston MP – by all accounts, a thoroughly decent public servant with a legacy to be proud of.

Under the Currency and Bank Notes Act 1914 (an emergency measure that was rushed through Parliament in just two days), HM Treasury was authorised on a temporary basis to create, issue and control its own debt-free and interest-free Treasury notes. During the remaining four months of 1914, three hundred million pounds' worth of these Treasury notes were put into circulation (in today's money that is more than £36 billion). They were nicknamed 'Bradburys' by a grateful public because Sir John Bradbury, the then Permanent Secretary to HM Treasury, had his signature emblazoned on the first three batches of this 'rescue' money. Also, these Treasury notes didn't need to have that infamous 'debt' strap-line that's found on private Bank of England notes. Why? Because they were based on something utterly tangible and of very real value...the credit, wealth and creativity of the nation.

The emergency first batch of the 'Bradbury Pound'. The notes were printed on one side only on stamp paper.

Second and third batches of the 'Bradbury Pound'.

This simple and defining fiscal measure, which today's money reformers call either Sovereign Money or Sovereign National Credit, is referred to by HM Treasury as Money Supply M0 at 100% (incidentally, the loose change today in our pockets that's been created by the Royal Mint and issued by the Treasury is called Money Supply M0 at around 2.3%). These Treasury notes were debt-free and interest-free and they were seen by most informed people as being more reliable than gold. They were fixed at a set and non-variable rate of value whereas the value of gold can and does actually fluctuate courtesy of the shenanigans of the private financial sector.

Whilst no countries today are actually linked up to the gold standard, the price of gold is currently overseen by the privately-run London Bullion Market Association. On a daily basis, trading occurs via an anonymous auction every 45 seconds as frantic buying and selling of gold takes place involving private investors, companies and central banks from all over the world. Whilst on the whole considered reliably 'low risk' by investors, the price of gold, along with other precious metals, can occasionally experience a bumpy road and can easily be influenced by global economic trends and events...and creating trends and triggering events are, of course, very much the forte of the all-pervading and secretive Deep State Cabal! Also, the actual holding of gold differs widely throughout the world – as of March 2022, the US has 8,133 metric tons, Russia has 2,298 metric tons, China has 1,948 metric tons and the UK, thanks to the Deep State Cabal's gofer and 'useless idiot' Gordon Brown selling off 56% of Britain's gold, now only has 310 metric tons.

Indeed, when you consider the current state of the bullion market and which countries and organisations are the main holders of gold, this BullionByPost Article illustrates the current situation very clearly indeed. For those people who still believe that the UK should now return to some sort of gold standard, maybe they should consider this. The British gold reserve, that is the 310 metric tons of gold that lies in the vaults of the Bank of England, is worth currently in the region of £15 billion. Sounds a lot but actually it's only a drop in the ocean of what's needed if you want to properly underpin the lawful part of the British economy. The value of the Bank of England notes in circulation alone comes to around £80 billion and when electronic transactions are taken into account, the final figure can be measured into the trillions.

So, to all those people who still believe in having some sort of gold standard to buttress our nation's economy, where are you going to buy such a vast amount of gold from? It is a commodity that is both extremely limited and precious and which will soar in value as soon as demand suddenly goes up. Just remember, the entire financial system is completely in private hands...and they are the private hands of out-and-out fraudsters!

When it comes to the value of a currency, complete and lasting stability should be the order of the day with absolutely no involvement at all from the private financial sector...and that is what the 'Bradbury Pound' brought to the table, albeit only for a very short period of time thanks to what happened next. Let Thomas Johnston now continue the story...

To return, however, to the early war period, no sooner had Mr. Lloyd George got the bankers out of their difficulties in the autumn of 1914 by the issue of the Treasury money, than they were round again at the Treasury door explaining forcibly that the State must, upon no account, issue any more money on this interest free basis; if the war was to be run, it must be run with borrowed money, money upon which interest must be paid, and they were the gentlemen who would see to the proper financing of a good, juicy War Loan at three and a half per cent, interest, and to that last proposition the Treasury yielded. The War was not to be fought with interest-free money, and/or/with conscription of wealth; though it was to be fought with conscription of life. Many small businesses were to be closed and their proprietors sent overseas as redundant, and without any compensation for their losses, while Finance, as we shall see, was to be heavily and progressively remunerated”

In other words, the psychopaths didn't want to be left out from making vast profits from this global war – a war that the criminal globalists and their banksters almost certainly engineered at the very highest levels from behind the scenes. They wanted to make sure that they could make their killing out of the killing taking place on the Western Front and elsewhere!

So, let's just reiterate the enormous importance of what Thomas Johnston has actually told us. In August 1914, at the outbreak of the First World War, to avoid the imminent financial collapse of the private banks and the Bank of England itself, Parliament rushed a Bill through Parliament in two days which authorised HM Treasury, NOT the private Bank of England, to create, issue and control money that was debt-free and interest-free because it was entirely based on the wealth and creativity of the British nation. The high-street banks reopened and people who had planned to withdraw their savings in gold sovereigns and half-sovereigns were more than happy to accept these new Treasury notes created by HM Government. And, most importantly of all, we are told that there were no discerning problems concerning inflationary pressures.

However, there will still be those in the conventional (thoroughly controlled) schools of economics who believe that Thomas Johnston has got it all wrong and that money creation just can't be that simple. So, let's turn to a rather unlikely, but well placed individual who will echo and support what Johnston wrote. His name is Vincent Vickers.

Vincent Vickers was truly a product of the corporate world and a senior member of the City of London itself. Sadly, however, and this has been extremely fortunate for the criminal globalists of today, he is almost completely unknown. As with Thomas Johnston, hardly anyone has ever heard of him. Nonetheless, his damning book, Economic Tribulation, is confirmation of the essential criminality of the private central bankers and one day both he and Thomas Johnston must be acknowledged for the very important role they are playing today in providing the evidence needed to bring down these criminal globalists. But returning to his book, sadly today only a tiny number of people have actually read it.

Vincent Vickers – a man of enormous integrity and common sense but an unlikely money reformer.

At the beginning of his book, which was published shortly after his death in 1939, there is a brief summary of his life by his daughter, Wilma Cawdor. She wrote about her father:

Vincent Cartwright Vickers was born on 16th January, 1879, and educated at Eton and Magdalen College, Oxford. He was a Deputy Lieutenant of the City of London, a director at Vickers Limited for twenty-two years, a director of the London Assurance from which he resigned in January 1939. In 1910, he was made a director of the Bank of England and resigned this appointment in 1919. Later, he became President of the Economic Reform Club and Institute.

He died on 3rd November, 1939, after a long illness during which, against time and with failing strength, he was working and writing on economics. A few days before his death he wrote: 'My keen desire to help up to the end has been the sole incentive which still enabled me to carry on perhaps a few weeks longer.'

It has therefore been my privilege to arrange my father's papers into the book which he laboured to finish, and which represents only a part of his ceaseless work towards national and international economic stability and his single-minded conviction of its attainment.

As a director of the Bank of England during the First World War, Vincent Vickers saw at first-hand how the debt-free and interest-free Treasury-issued 'Bradbury Pound' completely prevented a devastating collapse of the City of London. It was also then that he had the sudden and terrible realisation that he was playing an important part in a private economic and financial system that was absolutely criminal and fraudulent in its make-up and which had created huge suffering in the world as a whole. So much suffering that in the book's Foreword he writes:

I still believe that the existing system is actively harmful to the State, creates poverty and unemployment, and is the root cause of war.

As by this time he knew he only had a week or two to live, he then concluded the Foreword by saying:

This personal confession is merely to demonstrate that I have seen both sides of the picture. My opinions are based upon my own experience and knowledge. I am to-day in the unique position, of being absolutely and entirely devoid of animosity and wholly disinterested. I feel myself no longer under any restrictions whatsoever, except to guard against doing harm to my country or giving offence to anyone.

In the text of the book itself, the following quotes show this man's complete integrity, compassion and real understanding of what was being done to the human race at that time. And please remember that Economic Tribulation was written in 1939, the year a second conflagration flared up and overwhelmed the world that resulted in the deaths of millions of completely innocent people...a conflagration that clearly had the fingerprints of the then criminal globalists all over it. Vincent Vickers goes on:

Let us acknowledge the truth. Humanity is not suffering from unavoidable circumstances over which it has no control, but from the results of deliberate and dishonest actions of its own creation and invention. Fundamental laws, originally designed for the common welfare of the individuals of a community, have been broken – community laws which were never intended to permit the individual to grow fat upon the poverty of others, nor to permit him, in pursuit of his own personal profit, to base his standard of honesty upon his own flexible conscience, consoling himself with gratitude that he is within the law. Nevertheless, just as man has brought upon himself, or has permitted, this world tribulation, so can he play his part in undoing the harm that has been done.

But how is this possible? How can the ordinary individual change the world? Shall the man in the street become an expert economist, or a banker, or a cabinet minister, and control the press and public opinion? How otherwise can he assist in the regulation of mankind? What is meant by 'lack of economic equilibrium', 'sound finance', 'stability of foreign exchanges', 'currency restrictions', 'the creation of credit', 'the inverted pyramid of credit', and a host of other such phrases? The smell of long study, special technical ability, and great learning. Surely, then, it is commonly felt, it is better that ordinary individuals should leave economics to the economists, finance to the bankers, and national policy to the politicians? But, alas, that is exactly what we have for too long been doing. Look at the result! The experts have hopelessly failed. What is needed is a little less economics and a little more common sense.

So, there we have it...it's up to each and every one of us to get a grip on our collective ignorance about money creation and money supply and to confront these misguided economists and fraud-driven financiers and bankers by using some simple common sense to bring to an end their reign of control and their unlawfully imposed fiscal supremacy over all of us!

Vincent Vickers continues and, again, please remember that all of this was written in 1939:

If it be true that we have, in fact, a democratic government, the will of the people will prevail; and if it be not true, then it is best that this should be realised. For, in the latter case, still greater changes are inevitable.

Although it is the money system which is to be accused of dishonesty, those who use and depend upon a dishonest system, knowing that system to be dishonest, cannot themselves be regarded as honest men. Moreover, it may be that the present system, which international finance has forced our democratic government to adopt, uphold, and protect by every possible means, has undermined the character of the people and forced them to alter their definition of the word 'honesty' so that it may be made to comply more nearly with modern practice.

There was one man in particular who Vincent Vickers could not consider as being honest and who was extremely prominent in the setting up of this 'dishonest system'. And it is someone with whom we've already met...Montagu Norman, the longest ever serving governor (1920 – 1944) and, as we've already seen, the co-founder of the Bank for International Settlements.

Vincent Vickers and Montagu Norman had both been directors of the Bank of England during the First World War but there had been a major falling out between them in 1926 when the latter held the position of BoE governor. Montagu Norman was a keen supporter of Britain returning to the gold standard. Vincent Vickers was not! So, when Britain returned to the Gold Standard in 1925 and saw a period of relative stagnation with reduced exports and mounting job losses as the Pound Sterling had been valued too high, the resulting down-turn in the economy triggered the devastating and historical General Strike of 1926. A disgusted Vickers wrote:

Ever since that day in 1926, when, not in arrogance but with humility, I felt it my duty to explain to the Governor of the Bank of England, Mr. Montagu Norman, that 'henceforth I was going to fight him and the Gold Standard and the Bank of England policy until I died' – (and well I remember the words of his reply) – I have been an ardent money reformer.

As an 'ardent money reformer', Vincent Vickers very quickly realised that Montagu Norman had far-reaching and global ambitions for private finance. He wished to see the power of the central bankers magnified many times so that supposedly sovereign governments would be forced to comply with the wishes of a better coordinated, restructured and privately run-for-profit central banking system. So, in 1930, when Montagu Norman and Hjalmar Schacht set up the Bank for International Settlements on behalf of the extremely powerful but largely hidden dynastic merchant banking families (the same ones today who are pushing for the 'Great Reset' and the 'Green New Deal'), Vincent Vickers knew immediately that this was not ostensibly to improve German war reparations to the victorious Allies, but was a clear attempt to concentrate and centralise the power of the central bankers and that this was extremely bad news for all those who valued national sovereignty and fiscal stability. He wrote:

Whether it be true to-day or not, the City of London is, by repute, still considered to be the money market of the world. It therefore stands to reason that, in so far as British policy is affected or controlled by the money-power of the City of London, so also must that same money-power most seriously affect the trade status of the world. It is inconceivable that British policy should flourish an enforced alliance with, and largely controlled by, the money market of the world and the Bank for International Settlements and almost innumerable international, industrial, and financial combines.

And later on, he writes:

The supply and issue of money and the creation of credit still remain almost entirely outside the control of the Government, and are still managed by Banking and Finance and by the Bank of England with its intimate associations with the Bank for International Settlements; whilst, until our actual declaration of war, Foreign Exchange speculators were permitted at all times to gamble with the nation's credit, untrammelled by any sense of patriotic duty and thinking only of their own profit...until these financial Gangsters are permanently exterminated there can be no complete confidence in the economic welfare of the country.

A 1930s meeting of the BIS in Switzerland – Vincent Vickers' nemesis, Montagu Norman, is seen at the very far end of the table with his goatee beard. This rather dark and dismal room contrasts sharply with the current and luxurious BIS headquarters in Basel which even boasts a nuclear bomb shelter and a dentist! (photo courtesy of the BIS).

Now, coming to the end of his life, Vincent Vickers concluded his book Economic Tribulation with the final Chapter entitled The Direction of Future Policy. Here it is in its entirety:

In the question of what steps should be taken to put matters right, I can only suggest the general direction in which our future policy should point; for I myself do not believe that there exists any perfect cut-and-dried scheme which is likely hereafter to be adopted, lock, stock, and barrel, as our future monetary system. Moreover, there are many other technical and psychological considerations which would be necessary in order to achieve peace and contentment amongst the people. The main objectives however, should include: -

1.) State control and State issue of currency and credit through a central organisation managed and controlled by the State.

2.) Stabilisation of the wholesale price level of commodities. That is to say, a fixed and constant internal purchasing power of money; so that a pound will buy to-morrow what it bought yesterday; an honest pound, not a fluctuating pound. And this can be done by so issuing and regulating the volume of available credit and currency that it shall at all times be adequate to permit of the purchasing power of the consumer being equated with the volume of production; not by limiting the purchasing power, but by firstly increasing purchasing power more in proportion to the productive capacity of industry.

3.) Fixation of foreign exchanges by foreign exchange equalisation funds, and agreement with Empire countries and all other countries willing to fall into line; and, once this was accomplished, the removal or diminution of trade barriers which to-day protect the countries from the results of a bad monetary system.

4.) Any additional supply of money should be issued as a clear asset to the State; so that money will be spent into existence, and not lent into existence.

5.) The fluctuating quantity of gold lying in the vaults of the banking system should never be permitted to govern the volume of credit and currency needed by the country.

6.) The elimination of slumps and booms; and more direct procedure for eliminating unnecessary poverty

7.) The abolition of the Debt System where all credit is created by the banks and hired out at interest to the country.

8.) Absolute State control over all foreign lending; and the adoption of the general principle that our foreign trade should be so conducted as to preserve -

(a) the interests of the Home Market,

(b) the interests of the Empire countries and the English-speaking nations,

(c) the interests of Foreign nations, and that this principle should particularly apply in the case of Home production and foodstuffs.

Vincent Vickers, after his varied and first-hand experience of the City of London - and the Bank of England in particular - knew that if nations in the future were to enjoy genuine sovereignty, peace, freedom, stability and prosperity, they must first embrace and take back full and independent control of their money creation and money supply...and that this had to be in the form of debt-free and interest-free sovereign money that is based firmly on those nations' wealth and creativity. He knew that such essential and common sense money reform as this would make countries completely impervious to the whims and ambitions of the dynastic banking families and their then fledgling Bank for International Settlements which, of course, had been set up by his long-time opponent, Montagu Norman.

And just to back up and confirm completely all that Vincent Vickers wrote in his book, let's look very quickly at this devastating 1924 quote from Reginald McKenna when he addressed, as chairman of the board of the Midland Bank, his stockholders. He said "I am afraid that the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that the banks can and do create and destroy money. And they who control the credit of a nation direct the policy of governments, and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people." McKenna was also briefly Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1915-16 after David Lloyd George, so he clearly knew what he was talking about. He also knew how the 'Bradbury Pound' had saved the day in 1914 whilst at the same time exposing the essential criminality of the private financial and banking system. If only our politicians today could see what Vincent Vickers and Reginald McKenna could see back then. It's not rocket science, it's just plain old common sense...and we, the people, need to get a grip of this, urgently!

Reginald McKenna – yet another politician who knew the brutal truth about the bankers...

Vincent Vickers passed away just as the Second World War was getting under way. He did not live to see the deaths of between 70 and 85 million innocent people in yet another ‘war to end all wars’. Another war engineered by the dynastic banking families who, with their corporate cronies, made huge and obscene profits from the killing and the destruction. And whilst humanity tore itself apart, the criminal globalists quietly prepared for the next phase that saw the tentacles of the BIS extend to the full extent that they are today whereby they are now in the extraordinarily powerful position of completely controlling the direction and destiny of the entire world. The hideous truth cannot be ignored any longer – the private and central bankers need good wars and human misery in order to thrive!

In his book The Enemy Within the Empire: A Short History of the Bank of England, Eric D. Butler highlights the wartime existence of the Bank for International Settlements and the concerns that a few British parliamentarians actually had at this time about what was going on in Switzerland. Whilst we are told that formal BIS Board Meetings had been suspended during the war (BIS Archives 2017) and that the BIS had adopted a position of formal neutrality, there were rumours and concerns that banking representatives from Britain and Nazi Germany were somehow still having discrete exchanges or were involved in confidential correspondence to discuss future international banking and financial arrangements. This would appear feasible when you consider just how close Montagu Norman and Hjalmar Schacht were before the war. Butler wrote:

After Munich, Dr. Schacht went over to England and was a guest of Mr. Norman. In January, 1939, Governor Norman was on his way to the monthly meeting of the B.I.S.; he called on Dr. Schacht in Berlin on the way. War was declared in September, but, as questions in the British House of Commons on September 17, 1940, revealed, the Bank for International Settlements is carrying on, with representatives of the bankers from all the belligerents. The following is taken from the British Hansard:

Mr. Parker asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether he is aware that, in the report of the Bank for International Settlements, dated May 27, 1940, the names of Mr. Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, and Dr. Funk, German Economic Minister, are included together amongst the list of directors; and as it is not desirable at the present time Mr. Norman should be listed in a public document as a colleague of a German Cabinet Minister, he will take the necessary steps to terminate this country's connection with the Bank for International Settlements? [To give some context here, May 27th 1940 was the second day of the crucial evacuation of the British Expeditionary Force from Dunkirk – an extremely stressful and dangerous time for the British people – and that this actual exchange in Parliament took place whilst the decisive Battle of Britain was raging in the skies overhead].

Mr. Craven-Ellis asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether he is satisfied that the enemy gain no advantage from the Bank of England's association with this bank, which is now controlled by representatives of enemy countries, he will take steps to ensure that all connection with the Bank for International Settlements is revised?

Mr. Shinwell: "Is it desirable to retain this informal association between Mr. Montagu Norman and Dr. Funk, and if the arrangement which was previously operative is now inoperative, could not this association be brought to an end?"

Sir K. Wood [Chancellor of the Exchequer]: "No, sir, I do not think so, because, as I have said, I think there are advantages to this country in retaining the connection. We have a little money there. . ."

Mr. Gallacher: "Does the right hon. gentleman remember the words of the Prime Minister, that the gold sent through this bank [the BIS] by Montagu Norman to Germany would come back to this country in the form of bombs; and in view of the correctness of that prophecy is it not about time to put an end to this bank?"

Sir K. Wood [Chancellor of the Exchequer]: "I have already said we have some interest there."

If nothing else, this pithy exchange between government and MPs would seem to suggest that there is a measure of “keep off the grass” when it comes to politicians, our supposed elected servants, from delving too closely into the private affairs of this very private central banking club. The BIS is clearly a law unto itself...after all, as pointed out earlier, it has given itself diplomatic immunity to protect its very clear interests!

The Board of the BIS in 1940...

Returning to the 'Bradbury Pound', there is one other very important aspect that needs emphasising. This simple fiscal arrangement of Sovereign National Credit or Sovereign Money can be decentralised and targeted without any problems at all so that it can benefit a particular region or community that needs help at a particular time with supporting its services and/or infrastructure. Indeed, the future creation of a comprehensive network of community-owned public investment banks should be a prerequisite for any future governance once the private central banking system has been collapsed and completely removed from the scene.

As a partial historical example of harnessing Sovereign National Credit for use in a decentralised way, we can go back to Liverpool in 1793 and the crippling economic effects of the war against revolutionary France. In Chapter XI of a now very little known book entitled Liverpool Banks & Bankers 1760 – 1837 by John Hughes, published in 1906, we see how emergency credit was extended for two years as a largely but not entirely interest-free loan – a loan that was made available by Parliament to help the good people of Liverpool through those uncertain and difficult times of what eventually became known as the Napoleonic Wars. It is all about a sovereign nation mobilising its debt-free credit to help its people whilst keeping the usury-based private bankers/leeches out in the cold. Here's how John Hughes summed up this debt-free fiscal arrangement between the people of Liverpool and the British government:

The Bill so promoted passed its first reading on 2nd May, the second reading on 3rd May by a majority of 19 and passed into Committee, finally passing 10th May, and is known as 33 George III. cap. 31. This Act enabled the Corporation of Liverpool to issue for two years, against the deposit of approved securities, promissory notes for 5 and 10, not bearing interest, and of 50 and 100, bearing interest, the total amount not to exceed 300,000.

A Liverpool £5 note issued in 1793.

The Liverpool Pound worked well and was retired after two years leaving the people of Liverpool in a much better and stronger position to take on the economic uncertainties of war.

And there's actually another example of a community creating its own debt-free and interest-free liquidity to repair the damage done by the Napoleonic Wars. The humble little island of Guernsey in the Channel Islands used it with their debt-free and interest-free 1817 Guernsey Pound and thereby refurbished the island's essential infrastructure without using any form of direct taxation or the borrowing of any interest-bearing money from the private banks. Sadly, the privately controlled City of London then exerted considerable pressure on this little island and it was forced eventually to return back to the gold standard and to the borrowing of debt-laden and interest-bearing money from the private banksters.

Two other shining examples of Sovereign Money are also known, both coming from America. The first was the 18th century American colonies' Colonial Scrip which was undoubtedly the real cause for the American War of Independence as the bankers in the City of London wanted the colonists to return back to the gold standard. The second was President Lincoln's 1861 Greenback Dollar which helped to pay for the Union's victory in the American Civil War against the Confederacy. Interestingly, the City of London actually hoped that the Confederates would win. It's also interesting to note that four US presidents have all died violent deaths by shooting whilst in office...Abraham Lincoln, James Garfield, William McKinley and John F. Kennedy. And one common factor that unites all four of them appears to be that they all had alleged major disagreements with the private bankers. Co-incidence? Certainly John F. Kennedy's Executive Order 11110 created a great deal of interest for those who wanted to prove who was really behind his assassination. Only time...and the truth...will tell.

The only thing we can say with absolute certainty is that the 'Guernsey Pound', 'Colonial Scrip' and the 'Greenback Dollar' all worked extremely well, as did the 'Bradbury Pound'. If this simple and common sense fiscal arrangement worked then, it can certainly work for us now to stop the financial mayhem that's entering into people's homes!

Mainstream Economists and Career Politicians – who wants or needs them? (Part 1 of my rant!)

Sadly, this vision of a truly stable, sovereign and prosperous economy that's completely free from the greed and fraud of the private financial sector, as advocated by the likes of Thomas Johnston and Vincent Vickers, is not shared by the system-serving mainstream economists of today. Indeed, such a wonderful and secure economic vision of the future for all of us would appear to be an anathema to those who consistently prop-up and serve the present, insidious and quite unlawful private system of money creation and money supply...especially when they themselves benefit personally from generous salaries and satisfying perks for doing so. It would seem that the criminal globalists can quite easily recruit its 'useful idiots' to keep and maintain the criminal status quo thereby stopping people from properly understanding what's really happening to them and how we are all the victims of well-organised and 'legalised' fraud.

To illustrate this point more clearly, here's a typical and fairly recent example of the 'we know better' arrogance and mendacity that key supporters of this criminal financial system display when they are suddenly confronted with the unpalatable truth about money creation and money supply. The late David Pidcock, a money reformer for well over fifty years, shortly before his death last year, contacted Martin Wolf, the associate editor and chief economics commentator at The Financial Times, the effective mouthpiece of the City of London. Mr Wolf has also been a regular invitee at the highly secretive and elitist Bilderberg Group meetings so he must be considered as being a very keen supporter of, and advocate for, the criminal globalists' ultimate ambition to impose a global technocracy over all of us. Clearly a nice chap then! Definitely someone the police should thoroughly investigate once the truth about everything has finally come out and we, the people, are properly in charge of the country's decision-making!

Anyway, in his email, David briefed him fully about the insanity of the private and fraudulent central banking system and how the British government saved the day in August 1914 by overriding this system by triggering the Treasury-issued 'Bradbury Pound' thus immediately preventing a calamitous collapse of the British economy. Wolf's brief and somewhat bizarre response by email on 22nd October 2021 was: "Well, every Latin American despot thought this was a good idea. It did not end well. The idea is not complete nonsense. It is worse than that: a half truth." Not put off by this somewhat strange response, David then sent Wolf another courteous email asking him to name and give details of all those 'Latin American despots' who had practised this successful fiscal arrangement of treasury-issued debt-free and interest-free money that is based solely on a nation's wealth and creativity. Wolf's brief response by email on 23rd October 2021 was: "I don't know where to begin. So, I won't.". This is just so typical of the arrogance of 'useful idiot' system-servers when they've suddenly had the painful truth about money creation shone directly into their faces!

And what follows now is yet another example of how the full strategic implication of this HM Treasury-issued 'Bradbury Pound' has been effectively and deliberately airbrushed out of history. Everything possible has been done to prevent ordinary decent people from realising that this common sense fiscal mechanism actually exists and that it could be immediately restored again, not only for our future and collective prosperity and good governance, but as a way of instantaneously preventing the absolutely huge and criminally contrived economic downturn that is now occurring as banks start to keel over in apparent distress (quite how a bank can go bust when it can create money completely out of thin air and its 'rules of operation' have been created by the BIS, remains a complete mystery!).

In 2013, a year before the actual centenary of the 'Bradbury Pound', a book entitled 'Saving the City – The Great Financial Crisis of 1914' was published. Written by the late Professor Richard Roberts, the author himself was described thus on the inside back sleeve:

"Richard Roberts is Professor of Contemporary History at the Institute of Contemporary British History at King's College London. He has held fellowships at Downing College, Cambridge, Princeton University, and the Bank of England. He specialises in financial history and is author of many publications in this field including histories of City investment bank Schroders (1992) and consortium bank Orion (2001). His contemporary studies Wall Street (2002) and The City (2008) are published by Economist Books."

With his direct link to the Bank of England, Professor Roberts was undoubtedly just the safe pair of hands needed to write the City of London's 'approved' account of this very turbulent period in Britain's economic history, especially when this was the one occasion when the hidden hand of the then criminal globalists had seemingly lost control of what it was trying to achieve...and that, of course, was to trigger a global conflagration that would considerably advance their secretive and criminal agenda to break down the economic sovereignty and power-base of nations, the culmination of which we are witnessing today with the coming of their 'Great Reset'. With the actual text of Roberts' book running to 238 pages, this is a highly-detailed and blow-by-blow account of what the City of London said happened in the Summer of 1914 as the bankers suddenly realised that their private and completely unlawful system of money creation and money supply was in very real danger of public exposure and therefore complete collapse.

What we read about are an interminable number of meetings involving the then Governor of the Bank of England, Walter Cunliffe (to be made Lord Cunliffe of Headley four months later), and the then Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd George. Other starring roles in this turgid melodrama of fiscal deception and cover up include the 'renowned' economist John Maynard Keynes, the then British prime minister, Herbert Asquith, the then Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, the City of London's 'elder statesman', Lord Rothschild, senior Treasury officials, Basil Blackett and Ralph Hawtrey and, of course, Sir John Bradbury himself. At least the latter, even though he was clearly there as a system-server, emerges as some sort of champion of integrity and common sense in an otherwise dishonourable affair of entirely dubious goings on.

With a highly skilful narrative that can only be described as 'smoke and mirrors', Professor Roberts dexterously and successfully avoided telling his readers the real truth behind this financial emergency and why there were huge queues outside the Bank of England and other high-street banks. As we have already seen, in 1914, Britain was on the gold standard. The good professor does not tell you that the privately controlled Bank of England had fraudulently authorised the creation of debt-laden 'I promise to pay the bearer on demand the sum of...' paper money at a value many, many times more than the amount of physical gold that was actually held in its vaults. With the very real uncertainty of a European war, people quite naturally wanted to exchange their debt-laden IOU paper notes for the reassurance of gold sovereigns that were real and tangible.

Professor Roberts also avoided giving the full repercussions and implications of what happens when HM Treasury lawfully resorts to creating debt-free and interest-free money that was based firmly around the British nation's wealth and creativity. And he also successfully avoided mentioning either Thomas Johnston or Vincent Vickers...we can't possibly imagine why! But despite these very clear (and deliberate?) omissions, it is still a good book to read if you want confirmation of just how complex and ridiculous life becomes once you allow the private and greed-based financial world of the City of London to operate in a virtually uncontrolled and unaccountable way.

Returning to the ineptness of system-serving economists and commentators, there is one response that they just love to parrot when they are suddenly confronted with this common-sense form of money creation by the Treasury. Any mention of this government-created, debt-free and interest-free sovereign money and they quickly tell you that this will lead to hyper-inflation. And the example they love to give is the German Weimar Republic of the 1920s. Like with so much of history, the actual truth is quite at odds with what the Deep State Cabal would have us all believe.

Amazingly, the truth about what really happened at this time in Germany is in the writings of the co-founder of the BIS and Hitler's finance minister, Hjalmar Schacht. who, as the currency commissioner for the Weimar Republic, alerted us to what really happened in his 1967 book The Magic of Money. Schacht confirms that the hyperinflation was actually triggered by currency speculators in Wall Street and the City of London in cahoots with the privately-run Reichsbank, the Weimar's central bank. The hidden hand of the criminal globalists, in laying the essential foundations for the Second World War, was clearly at play here...the psychopaths needed this dreadful financial chaos of hyperinflation to make the rise of Hitler and the Nazis seem attractive to the ordinary German people.

In other words, they imposed their order out of their created chaos...just as the criminal globalists are doing today as the cost of living spirals out of control and the shadow of a forthcoming giant recession starts to darken our hopes for real prosperity again! Engineer enough pain and suffering and we will happily embrace CBDCs, a Social Credit System and the constant AI detailed monitoring of our personal lives by the State...or that's what they think!

But here's the rub! How did the Nazis suddenly change a society that was in economic meltdown to a society that could build autobahns, provide cars for the ordinary people, improve their railways, send workers on cruise holidays on German-built ships...whilst at the same time building the modern army, navy and air force needed to become a military superpower again, all in a period of much less than ten years? Answer, Hitler embraced a form of Sovereign Money or Sovereign National Credit, namely Labour Treasury Certificates.

But to return once more back to the actual events of 1914. As we've already mentioned, in just five months, from August to December 1914, the British government created £300 millions' worth of Treasury-issued 'Bradbury Pounds' (well over £36 billion in today's money). The private banking system was saved from collapse but unfortunately, as confirmed by Thomas Johnston, the politicians, who were (and, of course, still are today) subservient to the wishes of the City of London, they went back to generating Bonds (in effect IOU notes) for the borrowing of debt-laden 'out of thin air' money from the private financial sector. This resulted in the bankers being able to make immense profits from the slaughter taking place on the Western Front and elsewhere. As we've already said, they did make their killing out of the killing.

And in an attempt to avoid any questions being asked and to help cover up this blatant and unexpected 'U' turn, debt-free and interest-free Treasury-issued notes continued to be created but in much, much smaller numbers. They were only finally phased out in 1928, but the economic damage to the British economy had already been well and truly done. The looming questions that historians never ask are why did David Lloyd George suddenly agree to phase out the common sense fiscal arrangement of harnessing the nation's credit by creating debt-free and interest-free Sovereign Money to fund the entire war? Why did he go back to allowing the criminals in the City of London to fraudulently create the funding needed to win the war but which ratcheted up enormously the (completely unlawful) National Debt whilst at the same time allowing the banksters to prosper vastly from our country's immense suffering? His immediate compliance to their criminal demands should now be thoroughly investigated. What was their hold over him? Who was he really working for? And why has academia, or indeed the police, never actually investigated this?

As a result of this truly dreadful and bloody war, the National Debt went up...quite unlawfully as we can prove beyond all reasonable doubt...from £650 million in 1914 to £7.5 billion in 1919, whilst remembering, of course, that £1 then is equivalent to £147 in today's money. In other words, in the space of five years and in today's money, the interest-bearing National Debt went up from £95.5 billion to £1.1 trillion. So, instead of mobilising a small percentage of the actual wealth and credit of the nation to provide the liquidity needed to pay for the entire war without incurring a major debt to be serviced by the British taxpayers, David Lloyd George and his cronies scuttled back to the private and criminal debt-creating clutches of the City of London and the powerful banking families who then effectively controlled (and still do) the global economy.

However, the behaviour and loyalty of the political class during the First World War were no different from the behaviour and loyalty we unfortunately have to endure today in Parliament (as witnessed by the contrived walkout by MPs when Andrew Bridgen got up to give facts and figures about the so-called 'vaccines' which are now killing and maiming people in increasing numbers). Our self-seeking and self-righteous politicians, right across the political spectrum, see fit to serve the City of London before us, the people who stupidly elected them! They are simply not fit for purpose and radical changes must now be made to completely remove embedded career politicians and all hierarchical political parties from our decision-making processes. This must now become a priority. As a sovereign nation supposedly made up of sovereign people, we can all do much better than this!

22 February 1993

Dear Miss Hamon,

Thank you for your letter of 25 January to the Prime Minister, who has asked me to respond on his behalf.

The Government can and does finance itself to a small extent by the issue of non-interest bearing money: this is the aggregate known as M0, the stock of which is currently some £19½ billion.

The size of the stock of M0 is limited by the demand for this form of money.

If the Government tried to increase the amount of this type of finance beyond current demand for it, it would lose any control of interest rates in the economy, sterling would collapse, and inflation would take off.

The money that banks create is either interest-bearing or renders some sort of service that costs banks money to provide.

I hope this is helpful.

Yours sincerely,
Anthony Nelson

ANTHONY NELSON

Here, the Government actually admits that it can and does create debt-free and interest-free money through the Treasury in the form of coinage. However, most of this letter is just 'smoke and mirrors' with the usual and completely unfounded fears about losing control of 'inflation' and 'interest rates' thrown in for good measure.

What a restored 'Bradbury Pound' (Sovereign Money) would do for Britain today...

If HM Treasury was to restore on a permanent basis what it did back in August 1914, Britain's economy would be transformed beyond all recognition. It would have the immediate and lasting debt-free and interest-free liquidity needed to be completely impervious to the criminal whims and ambitions of the Deep State Cabal which, as we've already seen, completely controls the international and privately controlled money markets, the BIS and the Bank of England. Britain would become be a truly sovereign nation free from any outside criminal interference. The British people would live in a country that's free from having any sort of invasive, bullying and complex direct taxation system – a system that is wholly dependent upon and overseen by the completely agenda-driven and 'useful idiot' political class that currently infests our decision-making chambers in the country, especially in the House of Commons.

With the restoration of this incredibly simple fiscal mechanism that gave us the 'Bradbury Pound', Britain would actually see and enjoy continuous stability and prosperity rather than experiencing the usual (and completely contrived) economic boom and bust cycles that trigger and cause austerity cuts, inflationary and deflationary pressures and the worries about increasing debt, especially amongst the poorest and most vulnerable in our society. Britain, as with any sovereign nation that kicks out the greed and criminality of the private central bankers, would become a country really attractive to selfless entrepreneurs, inventors and people of real vision and ability who seek nothing more than to make people's lives better and more fulfilling whilst making a fair and reasonable return for themselves.

In 2021, according to the Office for National Statistics (ONS), Britain's assets were worth in total £10.7 trillion. The nation's latest human capital stock figure - that is the nation's labour potential or creativity - was valued again by the ONS as being worth in the region of £21.4 trillion. This means that Britain's total wealth is over £30 trillion. Now, from this figure, it would be quite possible for a government to release around one-tenth of this total - £3 trillion - to be used as liquidity or real money as and when required. In other words, debt-free and interest-free money that can be spent, in a completely responsible way and well managed way, to meet the needs of the entire nation as regards its essential services and infrastructure. And every sovereign country in the world can do this...no ifs and no buts...this is the Common Sense and Common Law or Natural Law way to create money to support every human-being on Earth whilst at the same time protecting and enriching the living Earth itself.

And what could happen here in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland when we see this debt-free and interest-free Treasury money suddenly become available? Simple, you would see a massive and positive transformation of the whole of our society – here are just some areas where real changes for the better could occur:

- The National Health Service would have all the money it needs to provide a truly first-class and REAL health service free from the ruthless and murderous clutches of 'Big Pharma' and the Deep State Cabal's imposed legislation that prevents natural health and bio-resonance treatments from being used to their full extent.
- The vulnerable and the elderly in our society would have all the excellent social care they need to ensure their independence and complete well-being, along with having the carers themselves being well looked after.
- Real science would be properly supported and funded, especially in the deliberately suppressed areas of natural and non-allopathic medicine and cutting edge physics, including getting to the truth about so-called 'free energy'. The amazing discoveries of the late Dr Royal Raymond Rife and the late Nikola Tesla would be thoroughly and independently investigated without any outside influence or interference from vested or corporate interests.
- The Armed Services would have all the personnel, equipment and resources that they require to effectively defend the nation's shores and sovereignty, whilst the police would have the ability to restore the proper community policing needed to effectively take crime off the streets.
- Essential strategic industries, such as steel and shipbuilding, would be protected from any hostile take-overs.
- Proper resources would be made available to mitigate against the worst effects of natural climate change such as creating proper flood defences and protecting communities from coastal erosion.
- Students would have their outstanding university loans completely written off without delay whilst all future education would be free at source.
- Young people would have properly staffed and equipped Youth Clubs and Organisations to give them tangible opportunities to discover their own natural skills and to give them a real sense of worth as to how they can make positive contributions to their own communities.
- British food production, involving organic and human-scale farming practices that really boost Britain's natural biodiversity whilst at the same time protecting vulnerable eco-systems, would be encouraged and supported to provide the entire nation with healthy and nourishing food that involves very high standards of animal welfare. Food self-reliance would become a priority.
- A comprehensive network of publicly owned investment banks and local community banks would be set up to create new small businesses as well as supporting and enhancing existing ones. This would be done by offering interest-free loans which only involve a one-off set-up fee.

As we see energy and heating prices rise and rise and there is now talk of interest rates being increased dramatically (please note that it is the BIS-controlled Bank of England through its Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) that is responsible for deciding what happens to interest rates...you really couldn't make this stuff up!), you are going to have a huge number of home owners terribly exposed as they see their monthly mortgage repayments and their energy and other household bills rise dramatically. Unlawful home repossessions by the mortgage lenders are about to increase dramatically and people will struggle even more to get on to the property ladder. What was it that dear old Klaus Schwab and his WEF cronies said? "You will own nothing and be happy!" If we're not mistaken here, there would appear to be a clear strategy afoot that is starting to help with achieving this Orwellian goal of total state control over everyone's lives by removing the opportunity to enjoy the private ownership of your own home and other possessions such as cars and the like.

Increasingly on a daily basis, the evidence is now becoming stronger and stronger that the criminal globalists are in the process of triggering this truly massive global financial downturn, many times greater than the so-called 'banking collapse' of 2008. By the way, as previously stated, how can a bank logically collapse if it can create money completely out of thin air with its sleight of hand ledger exercises? Maybe people should start to ponder this little inconsistency that we find with the narratives that are fed down to us by the criminals running the show!

Returning briefly back to home ownership, when you know and understand the criminal mind-set that's behind this private financial world, you need to know that all mortgages are a complete and utter scam – you would be seriously advised to look at this excellent documentary. People need to wise up fast if you don't want to see your family home being repossessed by these wretched criminals!

The rumblings and indications are all there that there is to be this (completely contrived) massive collapse of the global economy...and the Russian invasion of Ukraine has certainly contributed to this. We've already touched on what's happening. We've got rapidly increasing inflation in the shops and at the pumps; we've got very real (again, completely contrived) problems in the energy markets as severe disruptions in supply, along with fake 'climate change' diktats, kick in; we've got the resulting huge increases in our heating and electricity bills which will considerably curtail our ability to spend normally in the high street; we've still got severe supply chain problems on the movement of goods around the world with continuing disruption at ports; we've got the completely contrived global food shortages as we see the negative effects finally kicking in of large-scale 'industrialised' farming with increasing costs in chemical fertilisers and pesticides, not to mention 'bird flu', the effects of 'exhausted soils' and now the deliberate and growing fake 'green' policies to 'wild' productive farmland; we've got the lasting effects of the fake 'COVID' pandemic lockdowns on small and medium-sized businesses; and we've got that growing and quite unsustainable (not to mention completely unlawful) global debt problem, including that crazy 'derivatives' debt bubble of $2.3 quadrillion.

When the psychopaths of the Deep State Cabal trigger this coming and completely contrived global financial collapse in order to create the necessary chaos and desperation needed that justifies their rolling out of the Great Reset 'to save the day' along with their Central Bank Digital Currencies, we will have absolutely nothing to fear! The Sovereign and Common Law countries that make up the United Kingdom can resort in an instant to going back to a proven episode in our history. Going back to when our combined nations immediately harnessed debt-free and interest-free Treasury money that was based entirely on our combined wealth and creativity.

By repeating again what the British government authorised at the outbreak of the First World War, the British people could easily ride out this entire advancing financial storm by detaching itself completely from all of the planned chaos and contrived collapses in the global financial markets. It took three days to trigger this common-sense lifeline in 1914 to stop a collapse of Britain's economy...with the electronic and digital world we have today, this could now be done in seconds! All that is required is the 'thumbs-up' from the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the Prime Minister and a statement confirming that the entire lawful part of the British economy is now completely underpinned by our national wealth, credit and creativity.

So, to conclude this extremely important part of this exposé, the bottom line is this: any sovereign nation in the world, through its treasury, can create, issue and control debt-free and interest-free money that is based entirely on that nation's wealth and creativity. This way, all of a nation's essential needs can be met without the requirement for a complex and invasive direct taxation system and without being dependent upon the vagaries of the private money markets. Complete financial stability is the order of the day. And soul-destroying poverty and austerity need never ever happen again. A nation's security, prosperity and indeed happiness can be secured in perpetuity by the use of this very simple, effective and proven fiscal measure of money creation – a fiscal measure that completely bars any involvement by the private and criminal central bankers.

And our elected servants in Parliament need never again have to go to the City of London and the private financial institutions to borrow money. Nor do we ever again need to be affected by the criminal machinations of the privately controlled Bank for International Settlements and its completely subservient Bank of England. This vision of the future can be ours but only if we recognise that a private and criminal cartel of multi-billionaire psychopaths is unlawfully controlling the world's money creation and money supply. And the 'invisible cloak' which completely protects this incredible lawbreaking and subterfuge that's going on in plain sight, right in front of our eyes, is our collective and quite incredible ignorance about money creation and money supply that we all have. We have only got ourselves to blame, nobody else! It really is time for us all to get a grip on this!

BRADBURY POUND

The striking campaign logo that's being used to support the restoration of Sovereign Money which will put a final end to all of this completely contrived economic nonsense and madness.

Part Two of my Rant concerning system-serving Economists and Career Politicians...

When we look at this evil mind-set...and, yes, 'evil' is the right adjective to use...which is behind the planned Great Reset and the completely fake Green New Deal, those of us who know full well the complete authoritarian 'lockdown' that is planned globally for the human race are just exasperated at the ignorance, arrogance and outright stupidity of those who consider themselves to be intellectually superior to the rest of us. For the purposes of this urgent attempt to wake people up to the realities of what's really happening, we're solely talking here about system-serving economists and career politicians.

So, let's start by directly addressing those system-serving mainstream economists, shall we? Here goes...

To be honest, we've all had quite enough of you! For far too long now we have all been subjected to your increasing and often contradictory drivel and nonsense as you repeatedly present us with unfathomable graphs, statistics and formulae. It doesn't matter which school of thought you all claim to belong to - whether it be the Monetarist School, the Austrian School, the Keynesian School, the Classical and Neoclassical Schools, or even that new kid on the block, the School of so-called 'New Economics' - you all pontificate and spout essentially the same inconsistent garbage. You know what they say – rubbish in, rubbish out!

Apart from some notable exceptions like Ernst Wolff, Catherine Austin Fitts and Professor Richard Werner, not one of you has ever bothered to publicly recognise that almost the entire financial and banking system of the world is in private hands! Not one of you ever questions the lawfulness of money creation and money supply being under the direct authority of unaccountable and unelected private individuals. Not one of you ever bothers to challenge the essential criminality of creating money completely out of thin air as interest-bearing debt. Not one of you has ever bothered to go public about what happened in August 1914 with the 'Bradbury Pound'. Not one of you ever talks openly about the common sense of harnessing a nation's credit and creativity to create the debt-free and interest-free liquidity needed for a genuinely free, green, peaceful and prosperous economy.

Not one of you has ever bothered to question the deliberately suppressed science behind Nikola Tesla's 'free energy' and the harnessing of the Earth's magnetic field that completely blows apart your often-heard blabbering's about economics being a discipline built around the problems of 'scarcity'. Not one of you ever questions why a so-called 'Third World' is actually allowed to exist? And not one of you can see the wood for the trees as to how a global plan for a technocracy is now being assembled by those who privately and unlawfully control the entire central banking system of the world.

Incidentally, you might like to know that Professor Werner, who understands fully how the criminal banking system works, is now actively advocating community-owned and completely accountable and transparent banking. He is currently setting up the Hampshire Community Bank to help small companies in that county. He believes that the best way forward for supporting local economies is by helping small and medium-sized businesses to flourish. Are you, as system-servers with excellent salaries, going to rally to his call for similar, publicly owned banking initiatives to be set up elsewhere around the country? Probably not.

With the exception of the aforementioned names, you are all giving succour to outright criminals! You haven't got the foggiest about what is REALLY going on – just listen to this so-called 'expert' who has got absolutely no solutions at all to this worsening cost of living crisis that is now rapidly enveloping Britain, if not the entire world. And here we have one of your fellow economists, Richard Murphy, who is a great champion of 'helicopter' fresh air, debt-laden 'money', also known as Quantitative Easing, being used by the private central bankers to tackle the completely fake and contrived Green New Deal. Sadly, as with the rest of you, he appears completely oblivious to the dangers of the Great Reset and the coming global technocracy. He has also made his living out of telling people about the 'joys' of taxation! With Sovereign Money, there is absolutely no need for any form of direct taxation...but he won't be persuaded. Like with the rest of you, system-serving economists, he has been programmed! In his concrete and unwavering mind, the 'Bradbury Pound' is just 'fiat money' that has no backing at all. He just cannot understand (scroll down to the comments section) that it was backed by the actual wealth and creativity of the nation, unlike his beloved central bankers' QE that is backed by absolutely nothing at all!

The blunt truth is simply this. If you, as system-serving economists, truly know what is really happening and what actually needs to be done to prevent this coming nightmare technocracy, but you haven't got the simple courage within you to do anything about it, then you are, to put it quite bluntly, a coward! If you persist in supporting a privately run, completely broken and quite deliberately corrupt system that is bringing so much misery and pain to the world, there's only one place to put your degree in economics and that is clearly in the waste paper bin! As with your own good selves, it is utterly worthless!

To all of you who call yourselves 'economists', please open up your minds. Use a little bit of common sense, find a little bit of courage and do some proper research into what it is you are actually promoting! For pity's sake, just get your act together for the good of all of humanity! And please remember what Sir Josiah Stamp, a former Director of the Bank of England, is alleged to have said in the 1920s...

"Banking was conceived in iniquity and was born in sin. The bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money, and with the flick of the pen they will create enough deposits to buy it back again. However, take away from them the power to create money and all the great fortunes like mine will disappear and they ought to disappear, for this would be a happier and better world to live in. But, if you wish to remain the slaves of bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, let them continue to create money."

Whether or not Sir Josiah (later The Lord Stamp) actually said this is not really that important. What is important is that the substance of this quote is absolutely true and provably so. And sadly, nobody of political influence today has got the essential courage or the good sense to confront this blatant criminality...and that leads us very nicely onto addressing our 'career politicians' of today. So, here goes...

Well, what can we say? Throughout the world, almost without exception, you, the career politicians of today, are a pretty unimpressive lot! But, for the sake of this 'wake up' call to the British people, even though we would like to vent our anger at the likes of Vladimir Putin, Joe Biden, Emmanuel Macron, Volodymyr Zelenskyy, Justin Trudeau and Jacinda Ardern, to name but just a few of the higher profile and ego-driven politicians who have or are promoting tyranny, cowardice and lies rather than freedom, courage and truth, we're going to concentrate on you lot who suffer from a very severe delusion and misguided belief that you are actually running and governing the affairs of Britain. To borrow a well-used catchphrase from the late and great comedy actor, Terry Thomas, 'you are an absolute shower', especially those of you who currently reside in the corridors of the Palace of Westminster and who arrogantly believe that the electorate, once they've voted you in, should be kept at an arm's length, especially if you enjoy an overwhelming majority.

For those of us who realise that the world is now rushing headlong into tyranny and fascism and who know and understand what the planned 'Great Reset' and the 'Green New Deal' really have in store for us, we have finally come to the conclusion that you, who are meant to be our elected servants working for our best interests at all times, have not only failed us but most of you have now actually betrayed us! You have allowed our ancient and supposedly inalienable Common Law Constitution, as confirmed by the 1215 Great Charter (Magna Carta) to be unlawfully compromised and to a very large extent side-lined! You have turned your backs on our nation's sovereignty and well-being. As with the system-serving economists, you are for the most part, clearly not fit for purpose! Out of the 650 MPs elected by the British people, there is only a handful, led by Andrew Bridgen MP, who have made any real attempt 'to connect the dots' and who now publicly acknowledge that we are looking at an Orwellian future of outright tyranny.

How are we supposed to react to your incredible lethargy and inactivity when it comes to your lack of action reacting to your constituents' concerns about what's really happening as the totalitarian building blocks are carefully and discretely put into place? Are you simply kowtowing to the City Remembrancer and the Party Whips with their infamous 'black books' that contain 'little known facts' about MPs facts which, one day, may come in handy when it comes to some 'gentle persuasion' for the 'good for the party'? Incidentally, that last link reveals the infamous interview with the late Tim Fortescue where he calmly, as the then party whip for the Conservative Party, tells people that some MPs have actually confessed to the abuse of "young boys".

(Away from the rant for just for a moment. This sudden and brief confession by the then Conservative Party Chief Whip brings us to a very ugly part indeed of the control that the criminal globalists have over a very small number of our decision-makers and senior bankers. There have been many attempts to expose what many believe is going on here but every time progress is being made, a fierce counter-attack takes place using the controlled mainstream media which attempts to thoroughly discredit the accusers. We will ask you to watch this video where you can make up your own minds about what may or may not be happening to ensure that 'loyalty' and 'obedience' to the globalists goes unchallenged at all times. Certainly, many serious researchers believe that there are a tiny number of high level paedophiles involved in the decision-making processes of our country and that they are being protected. And we only have to look at the circles Prince Andrew once moved in to see how this can be done. Back to the rant...)

Very sadly, when it comes to this blatant refusal to look at, and then act on, the overwhelming evidence being given to you about the existence of this Deep State Cabal, the only sensible conclusion we can come to is this. It would appear that you've all been scared off and that you've all got backbones of jelly. Craven cowardice, my friends, never, ever wins you freedom! We expect better of you!

In fact, we're compelled to ask you these two obvious questions? How do career politicians actually sleep at night when you know that you are simply blocking the truth that would easily stop so much of the misery and desperation going on in your own constituency? Don't you actually want your constituents to enjoy real freedom and true prosperity?

Over recent years, we know that all 650 of you will have received thousands, if not tens of thousands of letters and emails, not to mention surgery visits from your constituents, warning you about the machinations of these unelected and unaccountable criminal globalists and what they are planning for all of us. And how do you normally respond? Usually you just send back a 'polite', non-committal and meaningless letter thanking the constituent for 'raising this issue' and for 'making me aware of it'. Sometimes, when a constituent is persistent in not giving up and is insistent that you give him or her a proper and meaningful reply, you resort to calling them 'vexatious' which then allows you to cowardly hide behind 'personal security' thereby letting you off the hook from having to give that constituent a proper and detailed response.

However, there is one glaring issue that we all know for certain that definitely elicits either no response at all from you, or we just receive one of those three or four meaningless and non-committal lines of acknowledgement where it is crystal clear that no further action or follow up will be taken by your good self.

This is the issue that has well and truly been put 'off limits' and definitely 'out of bounds' by the City Remembrancer, the Speaker of the House of Commons and all the Party Whips. It is also the issue which must never ever be mentioned or raised when it comes to your day-to-day responsibilities as an MP to your constituents. And that issue, of course, is the main focus behind this e-book – it is the highlighting of the hardly known fact that any nation has the sovereign and absolute right to be able to look after, and be responsible for, its own money creation and money supply.

Okay, rant over, let's return back to the third person... here is a staggering example of how career politicians will run away from the issue of the 'Bradbury Pound' and Sovereign Money.

Jeremy Corbyn, when he became leader of the Labour Party in 2015 and John McDonnell, his new Shadow Chancellor, both knew full well about the 'Bradbury Pound' and how it would swiftly 'avoid wholly unnecessary austerity cuts' in 'one fell swoop'! Back in November 2013, as humble backbenchers with only a limited influence on events, they both supported and signed Early Day Motion 748 \(2013\). This EDM reads as follows:

That this House notes that the hundredth anniversary of the Bradbury Pound on 7 August 2014 is a welcome reminder of the historic precedent for public credit [now called Sovereign Money or Sovereign National Credit] as the sound basis for debt-and interest-free Treasury money and therefore the sound alternative to the national debt and interest-bearing bank money... and urges HM Treasury to follow John Bradbury's model and address social, economic and political issues across party lines in one fell swoop and avoid wholly unnecessary austerity cuts.

It would seem that these two reputedly 'awkward squad' politicians of the Left once viewed the restoration of the 1914 Treasury-issued Bradbury Pound as being a simple and common sense solution for tackling poverty, austerity and social injustice. But, something very strange happened when they suddenly found themselves elected and promoted to the shadow frontbench and appointed Privy Councillors. In effect, they had both been quickly reined in and silenced to become good servants of the 'Crown'...and that's not just to our Sovereign, Her Majesty the Queen, but to the whole corporate and secretive set-up that is 'The City of London'. And every attempt to communicate with Jeremy and John on this subject of the 'Bradbury Pound' came to absolutely nothing – both of them just didn't want to know anything more about the 'Bradbury Pound' and they certainly didn't want to risk discussing it in public. Why? Because they must have been effectively warned off and gagged by agents of the criminal globalists! There can be no other logical explanation.

Jeremy Corbyn and John McDonnell: huge numbers of people put such faith in you but your courage, when it was most needed, deserted you. You were always offering your supporters the empty rhetoric of 'Hope' and 'Change' but never actual 'Solutions' and 'Truth'! Even though you both knew full well what the 'Bradbury Pound' was and what it could do to genuinely help the lives of the British people today, you ran away! A perfect example of the current uselessness of our career politicians in Parliament! We've really had enough of you!

To extend this point even further that all you career politicians in the House of Commons are completely in cahoots with the City of London, in 2020, the then Chancellor of the Exchequer, Rishi Sunak, the then Shadow Chancellor, Anneliese Dodds, and the Speaker of the House, Sir Lindsay Hoyle, were all sent polite and informative letters about the need to re-introduce the debt-free and interest-free Treasury-issued 'Bradbury Pound' in order to save the British economy from any sort of financial collapse courtesy of the 'pandemic' lockdowns. Not one response was received! All eleven members of the then Treasury Select Committee were sent in July 2020 a Lawful Notice of Instruction to simply go public on what happened in August 1914 so that the general public could see that their jobs, livelihoods and future prosperity could, if the government so wished, be easily protected by this simple, common sense and completely proven fiscal arrangement. Despite a further letter in September 2020, including a reminder about the Common Law offence of Misconduct in Public Office, not one of those MPs involved had the courage or even the simple courtesy to respond. This is a perfect example of why we are absolutely fed up with MPs! They do not represent us, the people, who elected them to be our servants! Whether wittingly or unwittingly, they are currently only representing criminals! And they will be held answerable one day!

Sir Lindsay Hoyle – Speaker of the House of Commons. By all accounts quite a nice man. But why can't he remind the House of what happened in August of 1914 with the 'Bradbury Pound'?

And here's one very recent example of how scared the politicians are. My current MP is the Plaid Cymru MP for Dwyfor/Meirionnydd. Her name is Liz Saville Roberts and she is a Privy Councillor. I asked her to send a letter to the Prime Minister, Rishi Sunak, that had been signed by myself and Sir Julian Rose as the co-founders of the Hardwick Alliance for Real Ecology (HARE). In that letter (you can read it here along with Number Ten's pathetic response), we made it clear that Sovereign Money must be immediately re-introduced to save the British people from the planned financial collapse that we may or may not be witnessing as I write this. My MP was extremely reluctant to send this letter to the PM but after a good deal of persuasion she agreed to. When I received the appallingly dismissive letter from Number Ten, I sent this email to her on the 10th February 2023:

Dear Liz,

Please watch carefully this short monologue done last Saturday by Neil Oliver on GB News (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yZcBo4UqoNE&t=470s>) and please have a proper look at the attached 'Truth Tree' pdf. [at the bottom of this e-book]

Now read the response from 'someone' at Number Ten (just an illegible signature with no name underneath) claiming to be from the 'Direct Communications Unit'.

Are you, personally, satisfied with this answer to our detailed and evidence-based letter?

In that letter (attached again) from Sir Julian Rose and myself, there was an emphasised and completely ignored question. It was:

If HM Treasury was able to trigger a fiscal mechanism in August 1914 that gave the British people the necessary debt-free and interest-free liquidity needed to stop a devastating financial collapse, why can't the same fiscal mechanism be used today to prevent a similar collapse?

With such a meaningless and discourteous response from Number Ten, which only confirms Neil Oliver's view (and millions like him) of the complete and utter contempt the political class today holds the British people in, what are you going to do now to ensure that we get a proper and detailed answer to this incredibly important question? As my political representative and servant in Parliament, I am now relying upon you to secure such an answer.

I await your reply with a great deal of interest. The people are now stirring and realising that something is definitely not right with how we are all being governed. We are clearly being deliberately steered down a path that will lead directly to a cashless technocracy where the people completely lose their sovereignty and the ability to practice truly independent lives free from unnecessary state interference. In other words, what is currently happening in Communist China is coming to our shores very quickly indeed.

With kind regards,

Justin

Just over a week later, I received this email from her on Tuesday 21st February 2023. It said:

Dear Mr Walker,

Thank you for contacting me. May I remind you we previously agreed that I would send your letter to the Prime Minister but on the premise that I do not share your viewpoint and that I do not wish to associate myself or my party with the correspondence. I requested that the Prime Minister Prime Minister responded directly to you.

I therefore shall not be responding or willing to meet with you to discuss any further aspect of your views or opinion on this particular subject.

Kind regards,

Liz

That's it! No more dialogue about an actual historical event that the entire political Establishment cannot even acknowledge actually happened. Here is just another example of one of our MPs in action...running for cover! Total inaction on her part despite the clear evidence given to her. As such, she is clearly defending the position of the criminal globalists as they assemble the tyranny that is so clearly coming. One day, MPs like Liz Saville Roberts will be made to answer for their cowardice or complicity, especially when our Common Law Constitution is fully restored and the charge of Misconduct in Public Office can hover over the crime scene that is clearly the Palace of Westminster today.

With the serious economic chaos that's now rapidly unfolding upon the entire nation, the abject refusal of MPs to simply tell their electorates about this Treasury fiscal mechanism that was used to save the entire British economy from financial collapse in August 1914, is truly exasperating. Families throughout the country are now hurting! Food banks are getting busier. More and more small and medium-sized businesses are going bust. People can no longer afford their energy and heating bills. Inflation is rising. Interest rates (set by the BIS controlled Bank of England) are about to rise significantly. A huge number of homes will be (unlawfully) repossessed by the crooked banks. And unemployment is about to soar again. Total chaos in what is now rapidly becoming a cashless society where people are becoming more and more dependent upon the 'State' for their essential needs and, in some cases, for their very survival...just what the criminal proponents of the Great Reset require to make their final move towards this carefully planned totalitarian future that even George Orwell would have been surprised at! And this is what our career politicians are allowing to happen on their watch! Don't they feel any shame?

As career politicians with their latest salary increase to protect them even further from these dark realities now affecting their constituents, their gutless and witless compliance with the City of London and their incredible refusal to challenge how money is actually created and by whom is allowing this nightmare to unfold! They cannot claim ignorance, not after all the correspondence they will have received from concerned constituents! And may we also respectfully remind them that cowardice is an extremely unattractive and unforgivable feature to have, especially when you remember all those brave souls who were fighting and who ultimately gave their lives in two world wars to prevent our freedoms from being taken away from us...wars that were completely contrived and organised by the mind-set that currently controls the City of London!

The bottom line is this, we've really had enough of them. We no longer need ambitious, self-serving, ego-driven career politicians who have sold their souls to achieve personal gain for themselves. Equally, we've all had enough of those wretched hierarchical mainstream political parties that they all belong to and represent. Right across the so-called and completely contrived political spectrum, each and every one of the political parties currently represented in the House of Commons ultimately serve the criminal globalists and the City of London because they all refuse point blank to challenge money creation and money supply and how it's all ultimately in private, unelected and unaccountable hands – criminal hands which continue to practice injurious and unsustainable usury that is deliberately designed to worsen and break down sovereign economies.

And this even includes the 'radical' and 'truth-seeking' Green Party whose only MP, Caroline Lucas, goes out of her way to appear 'progressive' when in actual fact she has repeatedly and quite deliberately ignored the overwhelming evidence for the existence of these criminal globalists. As with all the other MPs, she has refused point blank to go public on the actual historical existence of the 1914 'Bradbury Pound' and what it did to immediately stop a collapse of the economy. Indeed, she has consistently refused to look at any of the evidence that exposes the machinations of the globalists. Her day in court in front of a Common Law Jury on a charge of Misconduct in Public Office may not be that easy for her!

“Build-back-better” Caroline Lucas MP – a so-called ‘progressive’ who appears happy to be progressing us all towards a very dark Orwellian future indeed. Does she realise what she’s actually doing? Sadly, she has proved to be a huge disappointment to those of us who had great faith in her when she was first elected. We thought that the truth now had a real chance of being heard in the House of Commons! How wrong we all were! No doubt, when she retires as an MP, she will be rewarded for her convenient inaction by being elevated to the currently quite useless House of Lords. She is indeed a perfect example of a ‘system-server’!

So, the conclusion about all of this is very simple indeed. The time has finally come to get rid of professional, career driven politicians! The original Chartists, in the first half of the nineteenth century, as one of their Six Points, wanted Annual Parliaments so that no ambitious men (there was no universal suffrage in those days) could become too embedded within the political and decision-making process. We would possibly go one stage further! There now needs to be a thorough and open review of our ancient Common Law Constitution and how we reach decisions at all levels of governance. Whatever we do, we must find ways of harnessing wisdom, decency and the proven truth rather than selfish greed and personal ambition. There may be a case for having some sort of ‘Grand Juries’ of randomly selected people that sit for a definite and fixed term. There may be a case for having an elected ‘Witan’ – a council of independent and provably wise people who, with the (elected?) Monarch, are charged with protecting our ancient freedoms so as to ensure that tyranny can never, ever raise its ugly face again. Presently, with the current lot, the decision-making within our country has become riddled with organised and deep seated corruption courtesy of the criminal globalists and their network of hidden skulduggery that includes freemasonry.

As with our tarnished universities, there now has to be a complete flushing out of the Augean Stables. We no longer want any professional, career-driven politicians, nor do we want any political parties. In principle, we just want decent, humble and independent men and women to serve for a short brief period as an elected servant in whatever level of government before handing over to someone else. We just want to see common sense, transparency, compassion and simple decency practiced by those we trust to look after our common wealth and our common future.

The whole aim of practical politics is to keep the populace alarmed, and hence clamorous to be led to safety, by menacing it with an endless series of hobgoblins, all of them imaginary – H.L. Mencken

A full house...probably discussing their next pay rise!

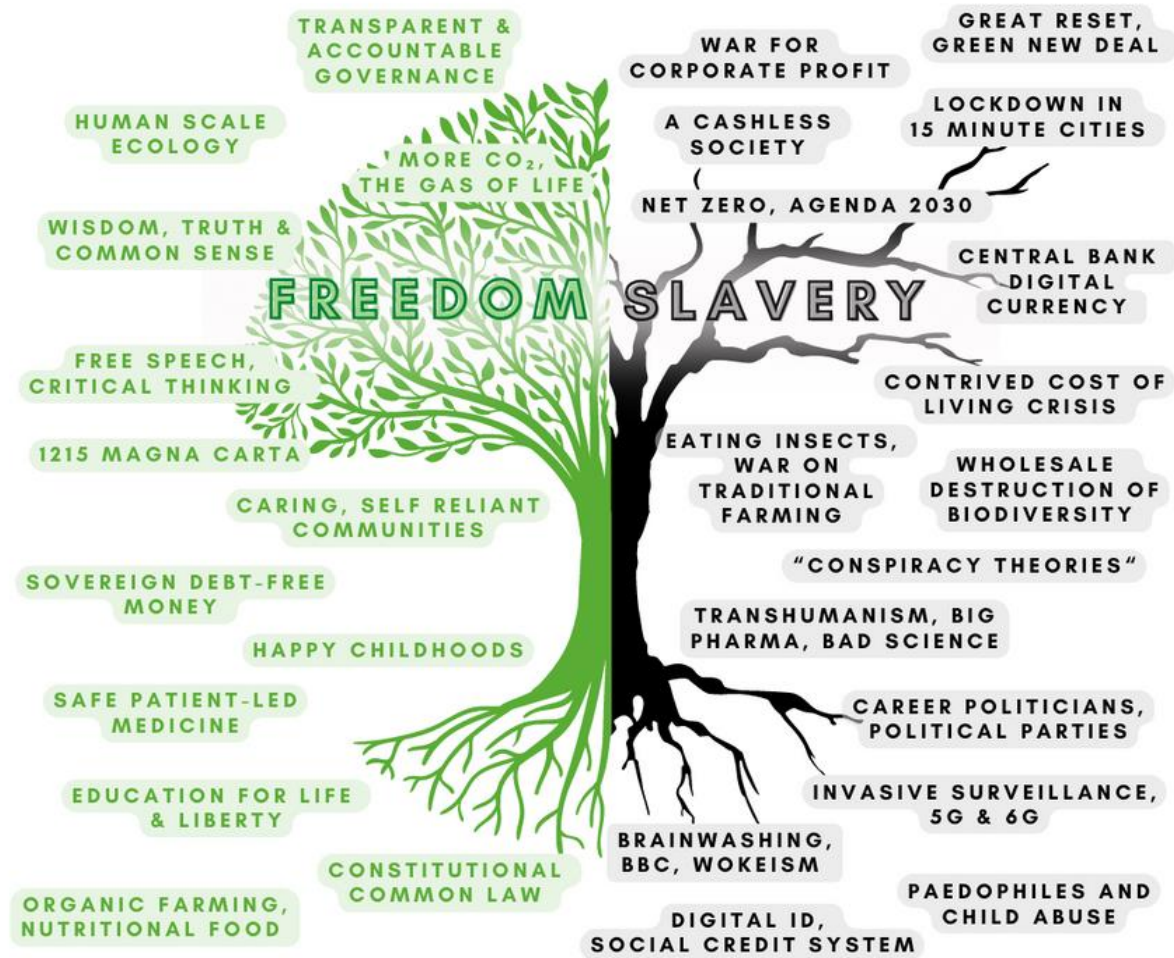

*A meme that says it all about our political class!
Career Politicians and Political Parties have to go! With the notable exception of Andrew Bridgen and possibly three or four other MPs, they are ALL cowards and happy to be in bed with the Criminal Globalists.*

*Maybe having an elected council of wise people – a Witan – might just be a good start?
Here we see King Alfred the Great listening to advice from his Witan.
For all our freedoms' sake, a new way to govern by harnessing truth, decency and wisdom must now be sought.*

THE PEOPLE vs THE GLOBALISTS

Final word:

All of the information contained in this e-book has to go viral. We can't do anything unless people understand HOW we are being deceived and controlled by a tiny number of psychopaths. In addition to this e-book, will you please go to <https://www.commonlawconstitution.org> and read very carefully indeed about the enormous power that our Common Law Constitution grants to each and every one of us. And please visit <https://hardwickalliance.org> on a regular basis. Strategic plans are now being made to take back our liberties...and a crucial part of that is putting money creation and money supply back into public ownership where transparency and accountability, as well as complete integrity, prevail. But first we must get this information out so please send this e-book to everyone you know. Thank you.
